The Founding of Gamma Phi Beta

History of Gamma Phi Beta

On November 11, 1874, Helen M. Dodge, a junior; Frances E. Haven, a sophomore; Mary A. Bingham and E. Adeline Curtis, freshmen, founded the sisterhood which has meant so much to those who have since joined the ranks. Dr. Haven, father of Frances, and a member of the Syracuse University faculty, was asked for a motto which he gladly furnished; Helen was appointed to draw up the constitution which was finally completed and adopted on January 7, 1875; while the choice of badge, a matter of great importance, involved much discussion and consultation. The four ultimately decided upon a monogram in a crescent. Then, as now, the badge consisted of a black enamel crescent enclosing a monogram of the three Greek letters and bearing upon the crescent the Hebrew word "four" suggested by Helen's brother who was then a divinity student. In marked contrast to the badge of today, this first one was an inch in diameter with the monogram not raised above the crescent's surface. For twenty years a guard pin, consisting of the letter "S" was attached by a chain to each pin, but this letter was succeeded by the Greek symbol of the chapter. The badges were not secured until after the initiation of the first pledge, Clara Worden, and it was she who took the design to a local factory and superintended the manufacture. No prouder mortals ever drew breath than those five women when, upon a chosen day, they marched into chapel adorned by those massive and resplendent decorations.

Of these first days, Clara Worden (Mrs. Frank Wilcox) (deceased) who enjoyed the distinction of being the first initiate, the first bride, the first mother, and the first grandmother, wrote:

"The meetings were held at the members' homes, afterwards in the rooms occupied by Dr. Brown. At my first regular meeting I was made 'Critic.' There was a program at every meeting in which all took part, such as the following:

Select Reading, Miss H. Dodge
 Essay, Miss M. Bingham
 Reading, Miss A. Curtis
 Literature, Science and Art, Miss C. Worden
 News Report, Miss F. Haven

Our first anniversary banquet, November 11, 1875, was held at the home of Miss Curtis, all the faculty and a large number of students being present. Our dues were seventy-five cents a year. We had a term tax of one dollar and our initiation fee was two dollars and fifty cents. A tax of twenty-five cents was levied on all members who were absent without sufficient excuse. We also had a 'chip basket.'

(The "chip basket," mentioned by Mrs. Wilcox, was a regular part of the early Gamma Phi meetings. Into it were dropped notes relative to questions for discussion, suggestions, etc. This old custom was revived at the 1936 convention.)

In honor of Dr. Brown, in whose study all meetings were held and who always manifested the warmest interest in the group, the colors were changed on October 1, 1875, from light blue to double brown.

The first meetings are, perhaps, the most interesting feature of Gamma Phi Beta's early existence, differing as they do from the chapter gathering of today. Frances Haven Moss says:

"We were strong for current events for we must be able to converse intelligently with our gentlemen friends. We always had a critic, for we must not become slovenly in our use of language; our essays for class were pulled apart and discussed. And, if one gained a place for any public performance—how she was coached and polished."

Also characteristic of the chapter discipline was the splendid training in parliamentary law.

Little by little the group accumulated its treasures. Mr. Moss, later the husband of Frances E. Haven, wrote a song and a blessing; Helen Dodge, inspired by the first anniversary of the founding, contributed: "List the Watchword"; these songs still appear in the sorority song book.

Of the life and customs at Syracuse University Mrs. Moss writes:

"The life at Syracuse University was very quiet, principally devoted to study, but we had considerable excitement over the election of class offices and appointments to honors. The singing in the hall after chapel was lively and inspiring. Our pleasures were simple, such as croquet, walking, picnics, sleigh-rides, and an occasional party.

We had a fine faculty and the opportunity for study was, for the women, a great boon so they were glad to make the most of it."

The personality of the founders (From THE CRESCENT, May, 1925): Helen was the student; Fanny, the idealist; Eunice, the friend; Minnie, the aristocrat. And thus originated our heritage of Culture, Ideals, Friendship, and Pride.

General Government of Gamma Phi Beta

The general government of Gamma Phi Beta is vested in convention with the Grand Council administering affairs between sessions and serving as the sorority's official representative.

The Grand Council is composed of grand president, vice president and alumnae secretary, treasurer, chairman of inspection, N.P.C. delegate, chairman of expansion, chairman of the Finance Statistical Bureau, and the executive secretary, the first three being elected by convention and the remaining officers appointed by the grand president with the approval of the other elected officers.

The sorority is divided into eight provinces, each one supervised by a province director, who is the Grand Council representative in the district, with the chairman of inspection as general director of all provinces. A province secretary assists each director. The chapters and associations are governed by officers chosen from their own ranks by themselves who receive their instructions from the province directors.

A central office is maintained in Chicago, Illinois, with the executive secretary in charge. There is one assistant worker in the office. The general business of the sorority is handled by the secretary and the records of the sorority, including THE CRESCENT mailing list, are kept in the office. These records may be accurate only if members send information about themselves to the secretary.

Conventions are held biennially in the even years with each province serving in turn as hostess. In the alternate years, province conferences are held with each chapter in the district serving in turn as hostess. While no official business is transacted at the conferences, they have an important function in acquainting the chapters with the work and latest rulings of the International organization, in encouraging a closer bond between them, in helping them to work for higher standards, and in promoting an interchange of ideas.

Special departments within the sorority government are supervised by committee chairmen. These are: chairman of literary exercises and examinations, scholarship chairman, publicity chairman, historian, camp chairman, rushing chairman, chairman of ritual, parliamentarian, and the chairman of the education department who serves as grand council representative for those officers responsible for sorority publications.

THE CRESCENT editorial staff is composed of an editor-in-chief and three associate editors, two of whom are the chairman of publicity and the executive secretary.

An Endowment-Crescent Board administers the Endowment and Crescent funds with a Chicago trust company serving as trustee. The Board is composed of six alumnae members, four being members of Chicago alumnae chapter but from four different Greek-letter chapters, the International treasurer and the chairman of the Finance Statistical Bureau. The grand president is an ex officio member.

With the exception of the editor and the executive secretary, all officers of Gamma Phi Beta work without remuneration.

Gamma Phi Beta Endowment Fund

The Endowment Fund was established at the Asilomar convention in 1915 through the inspiration of Blanche Shove Palmer of Alpha chapter. For the next few years, the fund was increased by voluntary subscriptions and through the revenues of such projects as selling hosiery, Christmas cards, etc. The 1921 convention voted to allot $3.00 of each initiation fee to the fund and the 1924 convention adopted the insurance plan whereby chapters volunteered to assume responsibility for the premiums on endowment policies, taken on the lives of members with the Endowment as beneficiary. By these methods, the fund has reached approximately $75,000, a commendable progress, however, the fund compares unfavorably with those of more farsighted contemporaries who started their funds many years before 1915. Projects to increase the fund, introduced within the past few years, tend to eliminate personal sacrifice and to give each member participating "her money's worth."

Chief among these projects is the solicitation of life alumnae dues which are added to the Endowment principal. An alumna may become a life member for $5.00, this payment erasing all past and all future annual International dues of $1.00. Since fraternity life memberships are usually $25.00 or more, it is apparent that the Gamma Phi offer is a generous one. If all alumnae paid their life dues, the Endowment Fund would be enriched by approximately $60,000.

Solicitation of magazine subscriptions by chapters and associations has also been encouraged because this project is not burdensome to members and produces remarkable revenues for the sorority. A member may secure her regular magazines for the customary subscription price but the sorority benefits from the generous commissions which frequently amount to 50% of the subscription price.

The Endowment Fund is benevolent in purpose. Its principal is used as loans to chapters for building purposes and its income is used for the social service fellowship and for the benefit of the sorority. From the income has been established a $5,000 revolving scholarship loan fund which enables members to complete their educations.

Gamma Phi Beta Altruistic Projects

Gamma Phi's interest in philanthropy has always been along social service lines. In one of the early convention reports, reference is made to "a vacation home for children" as a goal toward which the sorority could work. This goal was reached in 1929 when Gamma Phi Beta took over the camp for underprivileged little girls in Colorado, previously operated by Theta and Denver chapters. Despite the lean years which immediately followed the assumption of this responsibility, this altruistic venture has progressed until today there is a chain of four camps, located in Colorado, Vancouver, Virginia and New York.

A local board of alumnae supervises each camp under the direction of the International camp chairman. The counsellors, members of Gamma Phi Beta, are experienced camp workers who are selected from a long list of applicants. All sorority camp workers volunteer their services and the counsellors, some of whom travel from distant chapters, pay their own expenses except during the stay in camp. The only salaried members of the staffs are the cooks.

The children are secured from local social service agencies. They are undernourished little girls between the ages of eight and twelve. Each one must pass a medical examination before entering camp as a precaution against epidemics.

Each one is insured for the duration of her visit. The expenses of each child are paid by the sorority. During their stay in camp, the little girls are supplied with clothing and toilet articles. These they are permitted to take home, in addition to a school dress which they make themselves under the supervision of the counsellors.

There is as little institutional routine as is possible to conduct the camps efficiently for the little girls are regarded as guests of the sorority. Play is interspersed with work: supervised play for little girls who have never learned the meaning of good sportsmanship; work, not because there is insufficient adult help in the camp, but because instruction in simple household tasks will be beneficial to little girls who in many cases are the housekeepers at home.

The camps are entirely financed by the sorority, the camp fund being accumulated through an annual per capita tax of $1.00 on each chapter and association. A camp endowment fund, started in 1934, now amounts to about $2,500. Such supplies as clothing, bedding and other household linen are donated by chapters and associations which spend the winter months in making them.

LINDSEY BARBEE FELLOWSHIP

Although "a vacation home for children" was found to be a too ambitious undertaking for the sorority back in 1915, the convention of that year took one step in its social service program by authorizing the solicitation of an experimental fund of $500.00 to be used in giving to some young woman a year of training for social service in a school of good standing, the award to be made biennially through A.C.A. (now A.A.U.W.).

The chapters' response was so generous that the award was made annually until 1924 when it was decided to make it biennial but to increase it to $1,000.00. In that year the responsibility was given to the Endowment Board, and convention voted to change the name from "Gamma Phi Beta Social Service Fellowship" to "Lindsey Barbee Fellowship," honoring the outgoing grand president. Today, as was true originally, the fellow must hold a bachelor's degree from a college on the A.A.U.W. list, must have had at least one year of graduate work, and must have taken some work in social sciences. There have been nine fellows, one of them, Margaret Hodgen, being a member of Gamma Phi Beta.

GAMMA PHI BETA WAR WORK

No sorority participated to a greater extent than Gamma Phi Beta in relief work during the World War, her members, individually and collectively, contributing generously. Some members went overseas with various relief agencies. Chapters sent supplies or gave financial assistance and some of them adopted French and Belgian orphans. The greatest contributions of the sorority as a whole were a $10,000 fund, accumulated through the Milk Bottle Campaign, for Belgian relief, $500.00 for a hostess house and $1,000.00 for Near East relief.

GAMMA PHI BETA REVOLVING LOAN FUND

Members who are unable to complete their educations for financial reasons may borrow from the Endowment Board's revolving loan fund of $5,000.

Loans are made to juniors, seniors and occasionally graduate students. The first note, covering a two year period, is non-interest bearing. If renewed, it carries interest of 5%.

National Panhellenic Congress

Prepared by CHARLOTTE R. WHITE

National Panhellenic is the cooperating organization of sororities. The first intersorority meeting was held in Boston in 1891 at the invitation of Kappa Kappa Gamma, but did not result in the forming of a definite organization. This came in 1902 when representatives of Gamma Phi Beta, Delta Gamma, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Pi Beta Phi answered the call of Alpha Phi to meet in Chicago for the purpose of discussing rushing. Miss Lillian Thompson, our N.P.C. delegate from the founding of N.P.C. until 1936, was Gamma Phi's representative at that meeting. The functions of N.P.C. are strictly advisory. Its recommendations become laws only upon the unanimous vote of its member sororities. At the present time there are twenty-three member sororities.

Since these organizations are secret societies, our information about most of them is limited to generalities. It would be presumptuous to ask for more data than they are willing to give out voluntarily; however, through studying various publications, we are able to give you later in this report some idea of the history and magnitude of each of the N.P.C. groups. They are similar in many respects. Each one is based upon the principles of good fellowship among young women of congenial interests; and has been organized for the express purpose of developing its members into women of culture, of learning and of good character. All groups are, to some extent, philanthropic, some having projects which benefit outsiders while others confine their good works to their own circle. Scholarship loan funds—to permit members to complete college courses—are available in each national. There are two types of loans: an invested fund whose income is used for this purpose, and a revolving fund whose total amount is used. Gamma Phi Beta follows the latter plan. In comparing these funds, it is well to realize that a revolving fund of $5,000 produces more money for loans than an invested fund of $50,000 or more. All the sororities are endowed. Principal amounts of some of the funds for a given year (not entirely up-to-date) are available and in some cases, where figures are not known, the date of the fund's establishment is known which will assist you in determining its present day importance.

Biennial conventions are held by all sororities except Delta Delta Delta whose conventions are triennial. The province system and a representative form of government by conventions, with a national council to administer affairs between sessions, are in operation in each group. Central offices are maintained by all groups except Delta Gamma. All have lost chapters, some dormant and some dead, but, since we do not know the status of these present non-existent chapters, all are designated as "inactive" in this report.

In the matter of expansion, the sororities fall into two groups—those that are conservative and those that have expanded rapidly. Depending upon the point-of-view, there are advantages and disadvantages to both courses. It is apparent that the objective of the rapid expansionists is to secure representation in as many fields as possible in order to make the sorority better known nationally and to increase the roster of members. In this, the rapid expansionist has probably succeeded, but, in the opinion of the conservative group (to which Gamma Phi Beta belongs) at a sacrifice of quality, taking the chapter roll as a whole. The conservatives believe the desirable fields to be limited in number and that indiscriminate expansion produces a heterogeneous group of chapters which cannot be congenial.

In a sorority with widely dissimilar chapters, affiliation as a policy is not possible. In the chapters of most N.P.C. groups, members from other chapters are affiliated if the chapters want them but there is no compulsion upon them to do this in all cases. We are informed that Alpha Phi is the only sorority besides Gamma Phi Beta which has a definite affiliation policy. It is our belief that a sorority that does not have such a policy has less right to being called a national organization than one that uses it. Our members are affiliated, after a period of probation and provided they have been recommended by their original chapters, except when quota systems or university housing regulations prevent. Moving about from chapter to chapter, however, is to be discouraged since a member is trained and initiated by a chapter with the definite understanding that she will give it the benefit of her presence for the duration of her college course.

In the matter of service to college, every national expects its chapters to be an influence for good on their campuses. They must cooperate with university authorities, support all university projects and assume leadership in advancing the interests of those institutions. Fraternities and sororities at the present time are being held responsible for certain unsavory political practices in use on some campuses, such as bloc voting, graft, fraternity friction, weak officers (chosen for fraternity affiliation only), unwholesome pressure on individuals and political wire-pulling. N.P.C. has warned its sororities that to cooperate in such practices is to weaken the fraternity system; and is asking them to support election codes that protect the voter, such as parties made up of individuals, not groups, able candidates chosen for merit rather than for fraternity, and elimination of graft.

Another threat to the system is being made by those chapters in control of their fields who pledged more girls than they need, thereby starving the groups that have been unsuccessful in the immediate past. It must be realized that starvation may mean eventual withdrawal from the field which would endanger the system. Chapters move in cycles: those on the top today may find themselves in a slump tomorrow. It is a wise policy to be considerate of other groups at all times; to think not alone of the present but of the future as well. N.P.C. asks that chapters limit their numbers insofar as they can without injury to themselves in order to release girls to other groups. All nationals deplore the large chapter since it is then more of a social club than the sisterhood for which it was intended.

National standing is a much disputed subject. Even if N.P.C. would countenance a comparative rating of sororities, it would be impossible to compute it. Too much depends upon the point-of-view. There is something good to be said about each sorority. Its standing in the eyes of the rushee depends upon whether its claims to distinction appeal more to her than do those of other groups. Superiority is claimed for large endowments, wealth in chapter houses, large chapter rolls, small chapter rolls, ambitious philanthropies, age, social success, fine magazines, excellent scholarship and activity records, prominent actives and alumnae, etc., etc. In the final analysis, a sorority's national and local standing are only as high as that of its individual members. Just as the weakest link in a chain determines its strength so does the weakest member of a sorority determine its standing. When a member brings distinction to her sorority, she elevates it to a position of importance on her campus and in her home community; if she dishonors it, the reverse is the case, and it takes years to overcome her bad influence. To keep Gamma Phi Beta at the top nationally and locally, every member must prove by her own record that its standing is high. She must live according to the ideals to which she subscribes when she is initiated; she must take advantage of the opportunities for development which are offered to her; she must perform to the best of her ability every duty entrusted to her by her chapter, by her college and in her home environment; and, she must believe in her sorority's cause and advance it in every way.

The ages of the N.P.C. sororities are also disputed in some cases, and again this depends upon the point-of-view. If one considers only the adoption of a Greek name, Kappa Alpha Theta, organized in 1870, comes first. However, Pi Beta Phi, organized as I. C. Sorosis in 1867 along the lines of the present day sorority, was a national with three college chapters before Kappa Alpha Theta put in an appearance, and had fifteen college chapters before it adopted a Greek name. But, considering the type of organization, Alpha Delta Pi, organized in 1851 as Adelphean, must be put first as this was the first secret society for women in the world, although it was a local until 1905. N.P.C. recognizes the founding dates of these early groups, although it credits Kappa Alpha Theta with being the first Greek-letter society for women. This recognition is fair since all sororities date their foundings from the establishment of their first chapters, not from the time they became nationals by acquiring second chapters.

NATIONAL PANHELLENIC RULES GOVERNING PLEDGING

1. A released and broken pledge are the same and require the lapse of a calendar year before a new pledge may be made.
2. The signing of a preference slip binds a girl not to pledge anything for a year.
3. A pledge holds for a calendar year, even though the girl goes to another campus.

Panhellenic Creed

We, the fraternity undergraduate members, stand for good scholarship, for the guardians of good health, for whole-hearted cooperation with our college's ideals for student life, for the maintenance of fine social standards and the serving, to the best of our ability, our college community. Good college citizenship as a preparation for good citizenship in the larger world of alumnae days is the ideal that shall guide our chapter activities.

We, the fraternity alumnae members stand for an active, sympathetic interest in the life of our undergraduate sisters, for the loyal support of the ideals of our Alma Mater, for the encouragement of high scholarship, for the maintenance of healthful physical conditions in the chapter house and dormitory, and for using our influence to further the best standards for the education of the young women of America. Loyal service to chapter, college, and community is the ideal that shall guide our fraternity activities.

We, the fraternity officers, stand for loyal and earnest work for the realization of these fraternity standards. Co-operation for the maintenance of fraternity life in harmony with its best possibilities is the ideal that shall guide our fraternity activities.

We, the fraternity women of America, stand for the preparation for service through character building inspired in the close contact and deep friendship of fraternity life. To us, fraternity life is not the enjoyment of special privileges but an opportunity for wide and wise human service.

Introduction to Directory

Grand Council of Gamma Phi Beta takes pleasure in presenting to the sorority this geographical directory of members with the hope that it will prove to be useful.

Every effort has been made to produce an accurate one. As thorough a check on the membership as circumstances would allow was conducted. Through a coupon printed in the recent news bulletin, direct information was received from some members. In order that accurate information about other members in both chapter and Central Office files, each having its share of correct information, would be used, Central Office submitted dated lists to alumnae groups covering their districts, then the names of members not located in this way to college chapters to be checked against their own and college alumnae files.

The success of this plan depended upon prompt cooperation. With ten per cent of the members on the move constantly, delay would result in the loss of as many members as had been found. Also, it was essential that alumnae reports arrive before college lists were prepared to prevent a duplication of names on the two types of lists which would result in many cases in contradictory information being received. It was impossible, however, to follow the plan completely. A few of the alumnae groups were surprisingly prompt, some of the largest chapters returning their lists within ten days. Others were slower, some lists sent out last February not arriving before the directory went to press, making it necessary to send out college lists before completing the alumnae check because colleges were closing. There is some consolation in the fact that the lists which were not returned were short ones, consequently the percentage of members not checked in this way was correspondingly small.

In regard to how the information was used, all last minute information, regardless of source, and all post office reports were given first consideration. Information received from members directly was used instead of that coming from groups. When there were contradictions in alumnae and college lists, information from the former was preferred since obviously these groups would be better informed about the members in their districts than the college chapters could be.

Special features have been introduced in this directory. Members having life subscriptions to THE CRESCENT are indicated by a dagger (†). International life members are given in bold face type. This information will enable alumnae treasurers to determine permanently the standing of members since those initiated after June 1934 are automatically life members while all alumnae taking out life memberships in the future will be reported in THE CRESCENT. Wherever it was impossible to locate a member, her last known address has been given as was done in previous directories, but that mail is undeliverable is also indicated.

The editorial staff hopes that its efforts to produce as accurate a directory as such a publication can be have been successful. It believes this to be the case because publication occurred so soon after the issuing of the news bulletin which provided an invaluable check on members. Since the type of postal service used provided that all undelivered copies be returned to Central Office, it is certain that those not returned reached the persons for whom they were intended at the addresses given. Perhaps some of them have changed their names but at least they are receiving mail. It is hoped that members finding incorrect information about themselves in this directory will appreciate the difficulties encountered by the staff in preparing the material and will realize the impossibility of keeping in touch with members of a widespread organization who are generally neglectful in reporting information about themselves. There is no doubt that had all members returned the coupon in the news bulletin, this directory would be more accurate.

Rushing

LET'S ALL cooperate to make this fall's rushing season an outstanding success for each of our college chapters. If you know a desirable girl who will enter a university where we have a chapter, tell that chapter about her and, if the rushing rules will permit, rush her before she leaves. In sending information about her to the chapter rushing chairman follow the blank printed below. Write the rushing chairmen for their campus rushing rules and familiarize yourself with them so there will be no possibility of your breaking them inadvertently. Bear in mind that an infraction by you may result in a penalty for the chapter. Ask the chairmen also for information about their chapters so you can talk intelligently to the rushees about them. Here are a few international items of interest: Gamma Phi Beta is one of the oldest and most conservative of sororities, represented only in colleges of highest rank; it has never withdrawn a charter; its main objects are loyalty, friendship, culture and service; it conducts summer camps for under-privileged little girls in Colorado, Vancouver, Virginia, and New York; it offers biennially through A.A.U.W. a $1000 fellowship for graduate study in social service; it has lost no houses during the depression; it performed valuable service during the World War; its endowment fund enables chapters to build or to renovate their houses and individual members to complete their educations; its outstanding college members are numerous; its roster of prominent alumnae is imposing.

Active Chapter Rushing Chairmen and Their Summer Addresses

(Chapter house addresses, to which mail should be sent after colleges open in the fall, may be found in the CRESCENT directory at back of the magazine.)

Know Your Greek Neighbors

It is well to know the comparative strength of your fellow Greeks when rushing time comes around. The only way to be absolutely certain is to refer to the latest copy of Baird's Manual of American College Fraternities. The 1935 issue, the thirteenth edition of this directory, has just been published. It has been thoroughly revised by Dr. Francis W. Shepardson. Many improvements have been added. The book sells for $4 postpaid.
