'Some Thoughts About Leadership'

Barbara Burns Hiscock
Collegiate Vice President

At the beginning of a new college year, our thoughts are immediately focused on the incoming freshmen who will be our leaders of tomorrow. As we greet these eager new students, we are filled with the desire to demonstrate to them by our own example, what we find most desirable in women. It is fitting, then, that we pursue for a moment a careful self-examination. What are the qualities that we look for in our leaders both on the campus and within the college chapter? What are those qualities of leadership that carry us on to positions of leadership in the community after we leave our universities?

Above all, a leader must be intelligent, in order to make proper judgments which are required, constantly, of all of us. The academic atmosphere of a University is most conducive to learning, but let us not forget that our four years in college are but an introduction to learning. As a child, a new discovery was a thrill! As an adult, let us keep in mind that great excitement that we felt as a child, when we learned a new thing. The learning process never ends; it is exciting and stimulating.

A leader must be self-disciplined. How often have we noticed a person who had all the qualities that were necessary for leadership, save one—self-discipline! Without that check rein a person lives a disordered and chaotic life, wandering aimlessly without direction. The successful leader is one who sets up certain rules of self-discipline, and by adhering to these rules, she finds life's goals become much easier to attain.

A leader should be creative. Creativity is not for artists, actors and musicians, exclusively. Contrary to popular belief, we can all be creative with either new ideas or just a re-design of old ideas. The horizons are unlimited for those of us who care to reach out for new goals to conquer.

Thoughtfulness and a concern for our fellow man are necessary qualities for leadership. Sharing the joys and sorrows of your sisters in Gamma Phi Beta prepares you for this life's experience with others. We are all individuals with many gifts to share. If we were all molded from the same pattern, it would be a dull world. By our very differences, we can grow in understanding. Each of us has something vital to contribute. Welcome these contributions and grow in stature.

Lastly, a leader must have enthusiasm. This is of utmost importance. Without enthusiasm, one develops a negativism which is almost destructive. The easiest attitude to assume is one which says, "I just know it won't work," or "It's going to take so much effort, why don't we do something easier!" It takes real courage sometimes to be really enthusiastic. It's surprising, however, how stimulating it is to be exposed to an enthusiastic person. One is caught up in a desire to accomplish goals that might seem insurmountable, at first, but these goals appear close at hand when enthusiasm is the order of the day.

As chapters of Gamma Phi Beta—face this college year with enthusiasm. You will surprise yourselves with your own accomplishments. Set high standards, tackle them with intelligence and understanding. You will not fail!

NEW

In the cheerfully appointed reception area bookkeeper Sally Donahoe enjoys a quiet moment to peruse the new edition of The Crescent.

Ethelyn Bartlett, secretary to Miss Sieg, smiles as she slips into the desk chair of Valerie Scott, traveling secretary. Jane Yager, in the rear, and Avis Carver work on membership records and blouse ads.

You'd be serious too, if you had so many address plates to change—especially with those new Zip Code numbers . . . Anna Kantz and Elaine Carli.

Central Office opened its doors for business at its new location, 630 Green Bay Road, Kenilworth, Illinois, on April 19, 1965. The multi-roomed office space has been remodeled and redecorated to fulfill the dream of Executive Secretary-Treasurer Eleanor J. Sieg for lebensraum—room to do the work required to make the wheels of business run smoothly for an ever-growing, constantly expanding sorority.

From 1000 square feet of floor space in the Monadnock Building in Chicago, Central Office now occupies 2500 square feet on the ground floor of a two-story building in the suburbs. Situated a short distance from many of the alumnae who can contribute volunteer service during peak mailing periods, the new quarters provide the additional space needed for growth and is near hotels for the convenience of officers in town on business.

In making the move to the North Shore of Chicago, Gamma Phi Beta becomes the ninth Greek letter group to locate in the area of Northwestern University, long known as a cultural center which continues to attract to its lake shore site many national educational and professional groups. Preceding Gamma Phi Beta in the area are Alpha Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta, Sigma Delta Tau, Zeta Tau Alpha, Acacia, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Chi and Triangle.

This is the third move for Central Office since its establishment in September 1929 in the Pittsfield Building with Charlotte Robertson White as its first secretary-treasurer. The first relocation was made in January 1942 when the office moved to the Civic opera Building; the second came in April 1951 to the West Jackson address. Miss Seig joined Central Office as manager and secretary-treasurer in 1961.

From three crowded rooms of average size, Central Office in its new locale now occupies six plus oversized rooms. An unexpected bonus in the suite is a modern kitchen complete with cabinets, refrigerator, sink, exhaust fan and electric stove which was installed in time for the tea kettle to sing a welcoming tune to the six new members of Miss Seig's staff. Between the kitchen and reception area there is a walk-in, fire-proof steel vault where sorority records and items of historical significance are stored. Two delightfully feminine powder rooms feature built-in vanities.

In visiting the new offices in the pleasant court building, one's first glimpse through the courtyard entrance reveals the quaint Gamma Phi Beta sign swinging from its wrought iron standard. (See back cover.) Through the brown doorway one enters the reception area with its inviting coral colored upholstered chairs, contemporary bookshelves, coffee table and paintings. The carpeting is beige and the windows are hung with biege and coral printed cafe curtains below and fruit-wood stained shutters above. An interesting feature of the reception area is the round plate-like wall plaque commemorating the 75th anniversary of the sorority's founding chapter at Syracuse University. Silver historical trophies from some of Gamma Phi Beta's earliest chapters brighten the room's shelves. Copies of THE CRESCENT and books by Gamma Phi Beta authors entertain guests during any waiting periods.

Beyond the counter formed by the Greek letter and alumnæ chapter files are three desks staffed by those in charge of the many membership details. Along the south wall are tub files containing cross-card records of the 40,000 members who wear the crescent badge. The ell at the rear of the room houses the mailing department, additional files and a copy machine.

A large area to the left of the front door has been converted into an addressograph room where membership lists requested by chapters are compiled in strip list form. Files to house the metal addressing plates, large racks containing packages of THE CRESCENT, Greek letter and alumnæ chapter forms, office supplies, ritual material and myriad other sorority supplies are kept in this room. One of the three desks boasts a new mimeograph which reproduces the bulletins sent to international, alumnæ and Greek letter officers.

From the front door one can look through the reception room to an attractive enclosure at the rear—The Conference Room—where officers may hold meetings when in town and where the Endowment-Crescent Board will often conduct its affairs. An exquisitely hand-carved and hand-decorated Gamma Phi Beta crest is permanently mounted on one wall. This crest, a duplicate of one which hangs in Epsilon chapter house at Northwestern, is a gift of welcome to Central Office from Epsilon and the Evanston-North Shore alumnæ chapter. Flanking the crest on the long mode-colored wall are copies of water color portraits of the sorority's Four Founders—the portraits set in deep shadow-box frames and matted on rosy-red print fabric. On an adjacent wall hangs a shadow box containing antique jeweled Gamma Phi Beta badges mounted on black velvet. All are gifts from members or the families of deceased members.

In another room of the suite Miss Sieg's secretary shares an office with the publications secretary, Nathalia Holland, who processes the bulletins issued through Central Office and who prepares the Directory pages and the In Memoriam notices appearing in THE CRESCENT. The bookkeeper has her desk, files and accounting equipment in another office. Here the financial records of the sorority are kept, all international fees and contributions are received and posted and monthly disbursements for operating expenses are made.

The last office, but by far the most important, is the "Inner Office"—the private sanctuary of the secretary-treasurer who directs all the activities of Central Office with a patience and calm which might well be copied by many male executives operating the nation's large corporations. In spite of an entirely new staff—all female—who have bombarded her with a constant barrage of questions, she has maintained her cheerful, quiet manner and conducted the business affairs of Gamma Phi Beta in such a way that there has been no link missing in the transferring of ideas between the national officers and the Greek letter and alumnæ chapters. Truly a major feat! Her office is carpeted in a rosy-red wool tweed, the warm tones of which are picked up in the window hangings. An antique brass lavabo filled with deep pink carnations decorates the wall behind the desk. The furniture of the room is of the same all-steel contemporary design that is used throughout the other Central Office areas. Easy chairs, a low table and bookcase add to the atmosphere of beauty in Miss Sieg's worktime home.

Miss Sieg obtained the help of a Chicago commercial decorator, Miss Virginia Hawley, in transforming the offices into the international headquarters which Gamma Phi Beta will occupy for the next five years. Using Gamma Phi Beta colors of mode and brown, coupled with the variety of pink shades found in the carnation itself, the resulting color effect of all the rooms is both quiet in tone and at the same time cheerful. Modern color blending has lifted the simple mode and brown of our Founders into a rainbow of new hues named on the decorator's charts root brown, foam, amberglint, brass, pineapple, silver sage and harvest. These are the tones used on the walls. Upholstering throughout carries the new jonquil yellow and rosy-red tones. Gamma Phi Beta individuality is given to the offices through the use of original water color paintings by Mrs. Charles M. Moss, one of its founders—Frances E. Haven. The pictures have been reframed and hung in both the reception area and the executive office.

Members of the Greek letter fraternities on the Northwestern campus, as well as University officials and local civic leaders, will be invited to view Central Office's new home at an Open House tea on November 7 during the time Grand Council will be in session. The Endowment-Crescent Board members will serve as hostesses. A special invitation is extended to Gamma Phi Betas everywhere to visit their international office in Kenilworth whenever they are in the Chicago area. Northwestern Railroad service is available from Chicago to the Kenilworth station just one block from the office, and there is bus service from downtown Evanston.

Happy Marriages

by Dr. Freda S. Kehm, Director
Association of Family Living

With freedom of choice in marriage partners, a new goal in marriage relationships has come into being—individual happiness. It's a very difficult thing to describe; it means different things to each of us.

The emphasis now is on psychological and personality factors, on companionship and equality between husband and wife. Women have greater freedom in our democratic American family than one finds anywhere else in the world. Marriage partners choose one another and are intensely dependent upon each other, since satisfying relationships and understanding between the partners is the expected result if the marriage is to be happy. But freedom of choice calls for responsibility to choose wisely and to try to make your marriage a success. Thus, it takes more love and understanding to make a success of marriage today because we expect more of marriage.

The degree of happiness in marriage depends upon the ratio between what one expects and what one experiences. Happy marriages don't "just happen"; you have to work for the success of your marriage.

Off to the Right Start

What are some guide lines one can follow to try to achieve happiness in marriage?

1. Be sensitive to your husband's or wife's feelings and moods. Consider his or her needs before your own. Hopefully each of the marital partners is able to function capably most of the time, but each should be able to be dependent upon the other for emotional support in times of stress.

2. Don't criticize or nag unduly lest self-respect be diminished and your happiness together be in jeopardy.

Instead of criticism, express your ideas as suggestions. Each of us resents criticism because in our childhood it was associated with hostility. Nagging, too, merely causes a reaction of irritation and never achieves the desired goal.

3. Don't be afraid your husband no longer loves you when he flares up occasionally and releases tension in sharp words when the cause lies elsewhere. A bad day at the office often explodes at home—a safer place to "let off steam."

4. Try to nurture a sense of humor. Remember the bright or funny things that occur during your day away from each other and enjoy them together.

5. Look for reasons behind your behavior and try to understand the motivations of your husband.

Remember that each of you brought to your marriage from your early childhood different backgrounds, different personalities, beliefs, familiar ways of doing things that have become a part of you.

You could not, therefore, expect to agree about everything. Adjustments will be necessary, not 50/50 by each of you, but a willingness to go more than half way. Flexibility and the ability to adjust are among the most important factors in achieving a good marriage.

6. Talk to your husband about the many things that happen or in which you are interested, big or small, deep or light, and listen with attentive and sympathetic interest, thus keeping alive the essential habit of communication between you. Happiness in marriage is enhanced by sharing ideas and ideals.

7. Don't try to impose your will on your mate nor deny interests other than your own. As you learn to give and give in at times and to discuss decisions before they are made, you enhance the health of your marriage.

8. Keep the dignity of your marriage inviolate. Never demean its sacredness in public or private. Not only does it hurt the feelings of the marriage partner, but it is embarrassing to the friends who are exposed to your personal disputes.

9. Pray together in your place of worship, for love is blessed in the aura of Godliness.

10. Uphold truth in your marriage. Never practice deceit, whatever its motives. Respect for each other is as vital as love to assure life-long happiness together.

When Things Go Wrong

But sometimes even marriages that start out well develop problems. When couples marry, they are in love, they believe their marriage will bring them only happiness; they meet each other's emotional needs. They feel happy and comfortable together. There is a balance in their interpersonal relationships.

When they start having marital problems something has happened to that balance; to their relationship. This might have been affected by internal or external pressures. Usually, each individual prefers to think he isn't responsible; that it must have been something outside of himself that caused the rift. Counseling often helps individuals become aware of their personal involvements, the first step toward solving their problems.

Here are some danger signals.

First, lack of communication. Married couples must be able to talk things over even when they don't agree. Each of us needs someone to whom she can express not only love but hostility. Indifference is possible when you're not in love—but not when love exists.

Others talk at each other, not to each other. Those of you who have heard Leonard Bernstein's opera, "Trouble in Tahiti," remember what he calls the "screaming silence." In the opera, there is a Greek chorus which explains what each of the marriage partners means to say. Unfortunately, in life there is no such chorus, and misunderstandings, not discussed and settled, can mushroom into serious problems.

"The degree of happiness in marriage depends upon the ratio between what one expects and what one experiences."

Lack of communication between the husband and wife sometimes brings about over-involvement with their children; or they may become too involved with social life, filling time with meaningless activities. Some couples seem unable to enjoy being together, such as Mr. and Mrs. Jerold.

Mrs. Jerold, the mother of two young children felt very depressed. Her husband came home tired, was disinterested in going out and generally was glued to the TV set. He was the silent, self-sufficient type. "It wasn't at all like it had been when we were in college; he just seemed to live for the time we could be together then," said the wife, who came for counseling help. The husband came, also, because he wanted to save their marriage.

This wife was helped to accept herself as a more mature figure. The man was helped to recognize that a woman who spends her days with young children needs the stimulus of adult companionship and more emotional support than he was giving. He faced up to the problems involved in fatherhood.

Another signal is found when a wife has vague feelings that she is not needed. This woman feels that all of her husband's time and interest is centered in his business, and that he has no need of her.

The Struggle for Power

The third signal is that of a power struggle. The person wants to be in control so that he can have his or her dependent needs met, but he or she still wants to be boss. There is increased disagreement as to details of homemaking, of management of money, of the children, or of management of their leisure time. For example, there are the Ardens.

Mrs. Arden, who had been married for 2½ years, came for counseling to evaluate her marriage. She described her husband as selfish, overly critical and negativistic. She commented that in recent months they argued about everything, so much so that at times even they could see the humor in the situation.

She has worked since her marriage, and her husband was now established in his work to the point that they could plan to have a family. However, she felt very insecure about having a child when their relationship was so unstable. Mr. and Mrs. Arden had similar economic, religious, and cultural backgrounds. But she felt that her husband's family spent too much time in their home and exerted too much influence on their lives.

Mrs. Arden had a very close relationship with her own parents and her husband was concerned about their relationship, too. He considered his wife immature and felt not only that she was critical of his family but that she could not recognize the extent to which she was involved with her parents.

Actually, Mr. and Mrs. Arden's complaints about each other were quite similar. These young people were so involved with their respective families that they could not use their energy to work out their own relationships. They were behaving like rivalrous siblings. Each wanted to be the favorite child. When they were able to look at what they were doing rather than focus on what the other person had done, they had taken the first step toward a more mature and satisfying relationship.

Resentment and Boredom

The fourth signal shows when there is increased resentment on the part of the wife regarding her husband's work or on the part of the husband regarding management of the home.

The last signal of danger ahead that I shall mention is that of feeling let down with experiences, when reality doesn't meet one's expectations and the person is bored most of the time.

Mrs. Perken sought counseling advice when the possibility of divorce threatened her marriage of 20 years.

She felt inadequate, used and abused by her family. She had felt this way during her early adolescence, when her mother died suddenly and she was left to assume much of the family responsibility. She resented the indulgence her young brothers and sisters received from their father.

Although it came slowly, Mrs. Perken was able to recognize that she did have a close, satisfactory relationship to her father and her interviews provided a source of dependency and acceptance. As she gained confidence, she was able to express some of her wishes and feelings directly. Much to her surprise, her husband responded with greater interest and consideration.

Your Capacity to Love

The most important factor in achieving a happy marriage would seem to be the degree of emotional maturity of the marital partners. Dr. William Menninger has said that the most important factor in personal happiness and effectiveness is the ability to get along well with other people. It depends upon whether you can love more than you hate.

What is your capacity to love? The love I mean is that which the Greeks called agape. That love means considering the wishes, the desires, the goals of your husband (or wife) before your own, rejoicing in his or her accomplishments, sharing his trials as well as his triumphs.

Today more than ever before American youths need the examples of successful marriages which educated men and women can give them. We who believe in family life as the basic relationship in our culture must by our example illustrate its value. We echo the words of the poet, William Cowper:

"What is there in the vale of life
Half so delightful as a wife,
When friendship, love, and peace combine
To stamp the marriage-bond divine?" » » »

Fantasy, Fact and the Future

by Zelma Patchin, Dean of Women
Oklahoma State University

The first fantasy that we hear frequently is that the college woman of today is different and she does not need a sorority. She is different in that she is better educated, more sophisticated, and more affluent; but this does not necessarily lead to the conclusion that she does not need a sorority. The fact is that the great human need for companionship, for sharing friendship, and for having a sense of belonging is as basic today as when sororities were founded. Young women need the warm and affectionate understanding which sororities can provide. They need a point of reference from which to evaluate their desires and achievements, and to help in setting their standards and values. They need the encouragement and inspiration that a true sisterhood supplies.

Our Greek Assembly recently heard a report on a survey of college women who had been out of school for from five to 30 years. Two questions were asked: As you think over your college education, in what ways do you feel it is of value in your life today? And, in the light of your later experiences, what kinds of improvements or changes would you now suggest? There were replies from 30,000 women and they revealed that college helped them in their social relationships and attitudes, that they had made lasting friendships, and that college had given them a feeling of responsibility for good government and the feeling of obligation to participate. Many felt that college should offer more formal training in these areas. Do you recognize in the replies to the two questions the very reasons given for the founding of Gamma Phi Beta?

Another fantasy that I hear is that with the rapid residence hall building programs on university campuses, chapter houses are no longer needed and they cannot successfully compete with university housing. The fact is that university administrators welcome the additional housing space you provide for students. We are indeed most grateful to sororities on our campus for the three hundred additional housing spaces provided in the last ten years. Also, most universities are building large complexes, and even though the personnel staffs work diligently, somehow we have not been able to reach the results obtained by the intimacy and ties of a small group.

Have you heard that sororities are on their way out? It is interesting to me that sorority women contribute greatly to this fantasy. Fraternity growth has been phenomenal the past ten years, but if I didn't read the literature I would not be aware of it, for fraternity people are so busy talking about "problem campuses." True, there are problems, but voluntary associations are a part of the American tradition. There were approximately 20,000 conventions of voluntary associations in the United States during the last two years. These associations are protected by the Civil Rights Bill. Yet, as alumnae we sometimes placed the collegians in a position of wanting to apologize for being a Greek, as though it were un-American. If I were pushed to make a prediction, I would say that fraternities will continue to grow and make a significant contribution to universities because of the evaluation forced upon them. This soul-searching may be uncomfortable at times, but I agree with David Boroff, Assistant Professor of English at New York University, in his statement: "The healthiest campus situation is not one in which fraternities do not exist but rather one in which they are vigorously challenged by a sturdy and vital independent group. As a besieged minority, fraternities can be a wholesome force on campus; in full command of the campus, fraternities are dangerous and ultimately stultifying."

A fourth fantasy is that university administrations do not appreciate the contributions of sororities and fraternities. I appreciate the hours of free service given by alumnae, the leadership training provided for women students, and the contribution sororities make in setting ethical and moral standards on campus. Particularly do I appreciate the climate you create which motivates young women to complete their bachelor degrees. In a study of the 1960 freshman women attending Oklahoma State University, 34% completed their degrees here. Over fifty percent of these women were affiliated with sororities, and yet less than one-third of undergraduate women are sorority members. This helps prove your worth, but as a Dean of Women I cannot stand on my soapbox and urge every girl to pledge. All I can do is to make the information available for your use.

A fantasy that adults create for youth is that tensions are a new ingredient in their way of life. Having read a normal amount of history, and having lived through two World Wars, a depression, and the Korean conflict, and now having to experience the Vietnam engagement and the population explosion, I conclude that there have always been tensions to bear. If somehow we adults could only accept this tension-bearing or constant change in our stride as a fact of life and teach the young that it will always be with them. If we could only remember and accept that personal growth only comes from meeting and solving the tensions or problems of the day. The necessity for meeting the problems of the day is the very reason for encouraging each one of us to be the very best person possible so that one may influence in a constructive manner changes occurring in society.

In the "Future" of my topic, may I urge you to create a dynamic image of the Greek World in higher education. It is essential that all Panhellenic members work together to tell the Greek story and to recognize the strength of sororities and continue to build upon them to improve. Someone has said that the differences between individuals working and a group pulling together is the difference between a jumble of stones and a good, stout, stone wall. Promote Panhellenic so that it is a good, stout, stone wall!

To the collegians, may I say that with the emphasis on Panhellenic rush that each chapter must provide the kind of sorority which rushees will want to pledge. Girls do not willingly choose to belong to a mediocre chapter. You must have the courage to promote quality living in your chapter.

To the alumnae, particularly those serving as advisers, may you continue to give dynamic leadership. Someone has said that you have the greatest opportunity to make idealism and standards and qualities live in the lives of young women. You have a heritage which is priceless and great. The only way we can make this heritage real is to make it live, and give those eternal qualities which stand with us today and in all the years to come a real place in our lives.

Kansas Golden 50

On May 2, 1965, Sigma chapter of Gamma Phi Beta celebrated its 50th anniversary in Lawrence, Kansas. The celebration took place during the annual Sigma Brunch.

It was truly an exciting event for the 225 alumnae who traveled to Lawrence from over the United States. Thirty-nine pledge classes were represented by members who came from Pennsylvania, Washington, D.C., Ohio, New York, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri.

The program highlight was a pageant, "Through the Years with Gamma Phi at K.U.," which was written and narrated by general chairman Mrs. H. W. Reece of Scandia, Kansas. Members of the Greek letter chapter modeled fashions popular during the past 50 years and provided music appropriate to the era. In the absence of the Sigma Association president, Mrs. John Claflin of Kansas City, Kansas, Mrs. R. E. Shmalberg of Lawrence, vice president, introduced the program and special guests, Mrs. W. Clark Wescoe, wife of the Chancellor of the University of Kansas, and Dr. Emily Taylor, Dean of Women at the University. Pat Culea, chapter president, gave a resume of the past year's activities.

Founders of the chapter who were present were Miss Elizabeth Apel of Wichita, Kansas, Miss Isabel Gilmore and Miss Helen Rhoda Hoopes of Lawrence, Kansas. The first Sigma chapter initiation was held at the W. J. Gilmore home, Lawrence and the first pledge was Mrs. Frank Scanlan of Lawrence. Mrs. C. C. Earl Hovey of Kansas City, Missouri was the first chapter member named to Mortar Board; Mrs. Fred Ellsworth of Lawrence, the second; and Mrs. W. J. Campbell of Pratt was the third. Miss Gilmore was the first chapter president and the first patronesses were Mrs. W. J. Gilmore and Mrs. A. H. Sluss.

As a project for the 50th year, a roster of all Sigma initiates, their classes and addresses has been completed with plans to keep the list up-to-date. Mrs. Jack Clawson of Kansas City, Kansas was in charge of the project.

Mrs. Reece was assisted in arrangements for the anniversary by: Lawrence alumnae—Mrs. J. D. Stranathan and Mrs. Olin Petefish, food; Mrs. Ellsworth and Miss Maud Ellsworth, decorations; Wichita alumnae, name tags; Topeka alumnae, headed by Mrs. George Docking, hostesses; Hutchinson alumnae, registration; Kansas City alumnae, invitations; and Mrs. Ralph Park, chapter housemother for the past 17 years.

A large Gamma Phi crest, made by Mrs. Ralph Hedges of Shawnee, Kansas, decorated the chapter house entry hall. On the brunch table was a large crescent of pink carnations against a gold-leaf background. Bouquets of lavender lilacs and spirea were placed in the living room and music room. In the recreation room where the program was presented, decorations were white lilacs and white daisies.

Through the efforts of those who have been named and many, many more, this wonderful program was planned. The spirit of the day was one of excitement, in seeing old friends and meeting younger members, and pride, in the accomplishments of the past 50 years and the past traditions which have been established.

University of Tennessee

Twenty-eight pledges at the University of Tennessee exchanged their brown triangle pins for bejeweled badges of the sorority when they officially became known as Gamma Xi, the 79th greek-letter chapter of Gamma Phi Beta. Under the direction of Mrs. Donald L. Cass, International Rituals chairman, the initiation and installation ceremonies were held at the First Presbyterian church in Knoxville on May 15.

At the Carnation Banquet on Saturday evening, Mrs. Graeme Reid, International Grand President, presented the charter for the new group to chapter president, Janet Brown. And, Gamma Phi Beta joined the ranks of Panhellenic houses on the Tennessee campus.

The University of Tennessee traces its origin back to the days when George Washington was President of the United States, back to the days even before Tennessee became a state. In 1794, two years before statehood was achieved, the Legislature of the Federal Territory which later became Tennessee granted a charter to Blount College, the earliest predecessor of the University at Knoxville.

With its founding as Blount College, the University is listed as one of the older institutions of higher education in the nation. It was strictly nonsectarian in character, which was unique among institutions of higher education in that day. The institution has remained nondenominational to the present time and is said to be the oldest such institution west of the Appalachian Divide. Blount College for a few years admitted women as students, thus becoming the first coeducational college in the United States. The institution later restricted enrollment to men only before reverting to its present coeducational status.

Since its establishment, the University has grown into an institution consisting of 18 different colleges and schools, and it has become state-wide in its physical location as well as its services: The Medical Units, were moved to Memphis in 1911; the Martin Branch was opened in 1927; the School of Social Work at Nashville became part of the University in 1951; Agricultural Experiment Stations and the University's Extension division have opened centers throughout the state.

Traditions play an important part in the life of a university student by recalling the history and heritage of the past, and by setting examples for future achievements. The Volunteer Symbol, spirit of the State and the University, is ever present during the student's campus life. This traditional symbol admonishes would-be leaders to hold their "Torch" high, shadowing themselves to give light to others.

It is this symbolic "Torch" which first gives the new student a glimpse of one of the many traditions at the University. All freshmen are given a "Torch of Preparation" in brief but impressive Torch Night ceremonies during Freshman Week each year. This traditional symbol is retained by the University student, and is relinquished only when he takes up the "Torch of Service" at the annual Aloha Oe Ceremony marking his graduation.

Encouraging members of Gamma Phi Beta's newest chapter to continue to "hold high the torch of learning," many national officers journeyed to Knoxville to attend the festivities. Besides Mrs. Reid, those on hand for the weekend events were: Mrs. John G. Trussell, director of expansion; Mrs. Robert Smith, assistant to the collegiate vice president; Miss Karen Tucker, traveling secretary, and Mrs. Harry W. Collison, collegiate director of Province VIII. Two alumnae from Birmingham, six from Nashville and many from the Knoxville area arrived for the Pink Carnation Banquet at the City Club.

Tables bedecked with pink carnations, candles, place cards and programs set a gracious background for the charter presentation and the many awards given to the members. A surprise gift to the chapter from Mrs. Reid was a Gamma Phi Beta badge set with turquoise stones. The badge originally belonged to Clara Reed of Alpha chapter at Syracuse University and was first worn in 1895. During that era members of Gamma Phi Beta were permitted to wear only plain badges, bearing no jewels, until after graduation. When Miss Reed was graduated in 1895 her father presented this pin to her and it has been handed down through the family since that time. After receiving the pin, Gamma Xi chapter girls voted that it should be worn by the president of the group and Karen Tucker pinned the badge on Janet Brown.

Other gifts to the new chapter included a large silver tray from Grand Council and an engraved silver cigaret box from Beta Epsilon chapter at Miami University.

Awards made during the banquet were: Diane Pfeiler—best pledge; Susan Taylor—highest scholarship; Sue Sparkman—outstanding service; Janet Brown—excellence in leadership; and Judy Taylor—best remaining pledge.

Two legacies were initiated on Saturday: Kathy Hutchison, daughter of Eleanor Hill Hutchison (Vanderbilt) and Susan Taylor, daughter of Cora Pattie Menefee Taylor (Colorado College).

Climaxing the weekend activities, a reception was held in the Panhellenic Building on the campus. Receiving guests were: Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Collison, Janet Brown, Miss Margaret Cuninggim, dean of women; Miss Ann Murdaugh, assistant dean of women; Dr. Herman Spivey, Academic vice president of the University and Mrs. Spivey.

The Rev. and Mrs. John H. McKinnon of the First Presbyterian Church at Knoxville meet a few of the dignitaries in the receiving line. Dr. Spivey, University of Tennessee academic vice president, greets Mrs. McKinnon. Mrs. Donald Cass, rituals chairman, and Mrs. John Trussell, director of expansion, chat with Dr. McKinnon.

El Paso Alumnæ Chapter is Installed

The El Paso Alumnæ chapter of Gamma Phi Beta was installed on February 14 at the home of Mrs. George A. Ponsford. Mrs. Edward L. Vint, alumnæ vice president, installed the new officers and spoke to the group about the duties and privileges of membership.

Officers of the new chapter are: Zula Mae Jones, president; Florence Munn, vice president; Susan Jeanne Studdard, treasurer; Mary Elizabeth Ponsford, recording secretary and Beatrice Julia Meadow, corresponding secretary.

Nineteen members, representing 15 greek-letter chapters, attended the installation and tea.

Fourteen alumnæ members joined the Greek letter girls in Pullman, Washington at a festive dinner celebration at the chapter house last March. The occasion commemorated the tenth anniversary of the founding of Beta Sigma chapter on the campus of Washington State University.

Chapter president Charlotte Lindstrom presided at the after-dinner meeting and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Knott spoke to the guests. At the close of the evening, the chapter gave special recognition to Mrs. E. V. Ellington, Xi, who had been a member of Gamma Phi Beta for 50 years. She received the golden Crescent award and a bouquet of pink carnations.

Kentucky Gamma Phi Beta Colony Moves Ahead

In April sixteen University of Kentucky coeds were ribbon pledged to Gamma Phi Beta to form a rushing team for next September when the official colony will be activated.

Mrs. John Trussell, director of expansion, and Karen Tucker and Valarie Scott, traveling secretaries, were in Lexington to conduct the ceremonies. Mrs. Arthur S. Curtis, alumnæ president, and Mrs. Russell Davis, alumnæ rush advisor, handled the arrangements for the introductory tea and the pledging party.

Traveling Secretary

"Hello, Valarie, this is Bea Wittenberg calling about the Traveling Secretary job." All prepared to blurt out "you must be kidding" to what I considered to be a jokester from the other wing of the house, I suddenly realized that it really was Mrs. Wittenberg! Little did I realize then what fantastic experiences lay ahead during a year of travel and work for Gamma Phi Beta.

Feeling more like a beast of burden with flight bags, purses, coats, and boxes, I lumbered off the plane in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, to begin with a hectic rush life as a Traveling Secretary. Advisor, dishwasher, booster-upper, rusher, speech-maker, snow shoveler, confidant, and carpenter—all of these are woven into the fabric of the most challenging and varied job a fresh graduate could hope for. One moment you may be working with a rush chairman to develop a whole new rush program the next listening to someone's boyfriend-problem, and the next dipping ice cream in the kitchen for the party. Anything can happen and usually does!

The Traveling Secretary program has been developed to take recent graduates, train them in all the aspects of Greek-Letter chapters, give them an air travel card, and send them to various chapters to work on rush as well as general chapter development. Because we are given the opportunity of seeing so many chapters, we can gather a repertoire of techniques and ideas to be used by other chapters. We also have the advantage of being outsiders who can view situations with the objectivity of non-involvement, and yet we are also insiders with enough background to grasp the subtleties in a short time (hopefully!). There are no pat answers outside of the rules and regulations, and this provides the constant challenge that makes the job so fascinating.

Between the first, "How do you do," and the final choked, "Hope to see you again," one discovers and rediscovers the true essence of Gamma Phi Beta—the people. It is a wonderful experience to have spent pledge days to graduation with a group of stimulating, delightful personalities. Even more wonderful is the realization that all over the country are sisters with the same friendly zip-and-go mixed with personal integrity, character, and human understanding that endeared the first group to you as a "green" rushee. From Grand Council members to pledges it is the people that make being a Traveling Secretary much more than a mere job—it is a deeply rewarding experience.

If you don't mind testing your constitution against two or three rushes in a row, your wits against a constantly changing scene, your emotions on saying farewell every other week to people you have come to really like, and your suitcase to the airlines, then write the Assistant Collegiate Vice President for an application form. One day you may be among the orange groves in Florida, skiing down a slope in Vermont, or perhaps riding in a fraternity firetruck in California. These travels and pleasures are moving delights set against the constant background of Gamma Phi Beta and all that she means and does.

"What do you suggest for rush conversation?" Well, . . . ; "Teach us some new songs." Who, me?; "We're having a rummage sale, would you like to come?" My coat does have a few moth holes in it, but really!; "You mean we have to have a formal meeting tonight."; "I've got class in five minutes, but what do you think of the Human Rights situation?"; On and on the panorama flows. It's a twenty-four hour job that calls for all the agility and alertness you may possess, but you always wonder how you could have been so lucky. To all the Gamma Phi Betas—thank ya'll for a fantastic experience!

Reminiscing about her many trips this year, Valarie Scott, Traveling Secretary, points out chapters on the new membership map in Central Office.

Gamma Phi Beta

Province Conferences 1965

During weekends in March and April Province Conferences officially led off the planning program for Gamma Phi Beta's ten year drive . . . culminating with the centennial convention in 1974.

In each of the ten cities where meetings were held, the key word everywhere was "Dynamic Decade Ahead!"—the international theme for Province Conferences 1965. College presidents and university deans gave challenging remarks to spur the drive toward higher standards of excellence . . . in leadership, scholarship and campus achievement. Alumnæ shared their years of experience and learned from each other. Undergraduates arrived with interest and went home with stars in their eyes and songs in their hearts.

It was inspiring. It was beautiful. It was everything we want Gamma Phi Beta to be. With that kind of drive, determination and devotion, the next decade will be dynamic, indeed.

Here are brief synopses of our Province Conferences. Though no written word can adequately substitute for being on the scene, a brief recap may hopefully spark the spirit of those who did not find it possible to attend.

On March 5 and 6 Gamma Phi Betas from five Greek-letter and 12 alumnæ chapters gathered in Montreal at the gracious old Windsor Hotel. One wing of the Windsor has been taken down to put up the new Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce Building the clean modern lines of which are in sharp contrast to the Victorian splendor of the Windsor. It was an interesting sight to see our attractive modern Greek-letter girls gathering beneath the elegant crystal chandeliers in the domed lobby. One felt that the royalty who had frequented these rooms in the past could hardly have lent more grace and vitality than these girls did. This blending of the antique and modern is part of Montreal living—just as is the blending of the French and English cultures.

When the delegates arrived Friday evening the girls from Alpha Tau entertained at a coffee hour in their chapter suite, three blocks from the hotel. On Saturday morning the delegates convened for the general session and then broke up into buzz session groups to discuss "Vision of the Future" for the Greek-letter chapters and "Alumnæ Chapter Service" for alumnæ.

Miss Gwendolyn Floud presided as toastmistress at the luncheon in the Prince of Wales Salon. Mrs. W. S. Reid, a member of Alpha Tau's first pledge class, spoke about the founding of McGill University and its relationship to Montreal. Afternoon buzz sessions covered several subjects: Pledge training, service, membership selection and public relations.

The Pink Carnation banquet on Saturday night was hosted by the Montreal alumnæ under the chairmanship of Mrs. P. G. Perodeau. Mrs. R. G. A. Galbraith, PCD, acted as toastmistress and introduced Mrs. John Heaton who spoke on Amidst the Victorian splendor of the gracious old Windsor Hotel in Montreal, members of Province I gathered to exchange ideas. Devereaux, PAD; Mrs. John Heaton, president of the Philanthropy board and Cathy Miller, president of Alpha Tau.

Gamma Phi Beta philanthropies. The girls from Alpha Tau presented songs and skits.

After brunch on Sunday morning the delegates departed feeling "the encircling love of everyone else there and knowing that no one chapter stands alone."

Under the capable supervision of Billie Isenberge (William and Mary), Province II Conference was held April 23 to 25 in Morgantown with the local alumnæ and Alpha Pi chapters as hostesses. Chapters from Penn State, William and Mary, University of Maryland, Gettysburg and the University of West Virginia were in attendance.

Province II Morgantown

Mrs. Graeme Reid, Grand President; Mrs. Edwin Tuttle, PAD and Mrs. George Torstle, PCD were distinguished alumnæ who helped set the pace for the Conference. Mrs. B. M. Stout acted as toastmistress at the Carnation Banquet held at Holiday Inn, where exquisite candy dishes, hand-blown in Morgantown, decorated the tables and were favors for each guest.

Several achievement awards were presented: The Philanthropy awards went to Alpha Pi, Alpha Upsilon and Alpha Chi; Improvement in Scholarship award went to Gamma Beta; and the Efficiency award was won by Alpha Pi.

The Panhellenic breakfast, attended by representatives of other West Virginia campus sororities, heard Dean Mary Jane Schuster speak on the Conference theme, "Dynamic Decade Ahead."

"April showers bring May flowers" . . . and it must be true! One of the many things that delegates to Province III Conference in Springfield, Ohio, will long remember is that from April 23 through 25, it rained, and Rained and RAINED. Collegiate delegates were housed at the Alpha Nu chapter house at Wittenberg; the alumnæ stayed at the Travelodge . . . and the local merchants did a big business in rain gear.

Province III-IV Springfield

Mrs. John Trussell, director of expansion, wrote that "the campus was lovely . . . nestled into the hillside. The spring blooms were beautiful, but we didn't spend much time walking around in the rain."

The Springfield alumnæ chapter hosted the Panhellenic luncheon attended by 130 members. Special guests were Wittenberg University officials President and Mrs. John N. Stauffer and Dean and Mrs. Robert O. Long. Miss Heimtraut Dietrich, dean of women, spoke on the value of sororities and their contributions to campus life.

Mrs. Joseph Arcara was toastmistress at the Pink Carnation Banquet and Mrs. Trussell was guest speaker for the occasion. Hostesses were members of the Cleveland-West alumnæ chapter.

Province II speaker's table guests included Mrs. Joseph Spafford, Mrs. Michael Isenberge, Mrs. Ben Stout, Jr., Grand President Mrs. Graeme Reid, Carolyn Sellers, and PAD Mrs. E. E. Tuttle. Standing are PCD Mrs. G. S. Trostle, Joyce Lewis, Mildred Bailey, Mrs. J. E. Crynock, Anne Sharpe, and Carol Summers.

Dr. Robert Remsberg, chairman of the philosophy department at Wittenberg, lead the devotions at a Sunday morning breakfast at Woodlawn Hall. Dr. Remsberg's daughter is a member of Alpha Nu chapter.

Epsilon and Evanston-North Shore alumnæ were hostesses to the Conference of Provinces V and VI during the weekend of April 23-25.

Province V-VI Evanston

On Friday evening Miss Patricia Thrash, dean of women, was guest at a Fireside at the chapter house. On Saturday, Toastmistress Ardis McBroom Marek introduced James C. McLeod, dean of students, to the 170 delegates attending a luncheon at the North Shore Hotel. Both deans spoke enthusiastically of the fraternity system and its high standards.

The Pink Carnation Banquet on Saturday evening was held at the Orrington Hotel with Jane Stiedemann, a junior from Gamma chapter and Mrs. Walter Erickson, international standards chairman, as speakers.

Province V presented $250 to the Gamma Phi Beta Foundation and an equal amount to the Expansion fund. Efficiency awards were given to Rho and Alpha Beta chapters.

Province VII held its fourth biennial conference on April 23-25 at the Gamma Zeta house at East Texas State University. When the delegates arrived on Friday night they found the Gamma Zeta girls, long known for their beauty and graciousness, attired in chic brown and mode costumes especially made for the occasion. At a reception to welcome delegates, the dining room teatable was covered with a beige cloth and centered with a huge brass compote filled with pink carnations. A gleaming brass samovar at one end of the table, a brass punch bowl at the other, and a myriad brown and mode cookies completed the lavish setting.

Province VII Commerce

Gamma Zeta president Betty Minto led the opening exercises on Saturday morning at the Sam Rayburn Memorial Student Center. Mrs. E. J. Bowles presided over the business sessions. Province officials in attendance were: Mrs. E. L. Vint, Grand council representative; Mrs. Garth English, PCD; and Mrs. Ray Althouse, PAD.

A buffet luncheon was held in the ballroom of the Student Center and the Gamma Zeta girls entertained with three song selections that had captured for them the first place trophy in the Kappa Delta Sing Song.

Mrs. Jean Rodgers, state membership chairman, was toastmistress at the Pink Carnation Banquet and Mrs. Vint spoke to the group on the "Dynamic Decade Ahead." Perhaps a "first" for a Province Conference occurred that evening. The traditional candy was passed after dinner, and was taken by PCD Mary Jo Copenhaver! She and Garth English of Lubbock were married two weeks later.

Mrs. English presented awards to the chapters: Scholarship—Alpha Xi; Participation in campus activities—Gamma Zeta; Efficiency—Beta Tau and Gamma Iota. Mrs. Ray Althouse presented a special award to the Beaumont alumnae chapter for its outstanding contribution to the formation of the colony at Lamar Tech.

When delegates to Province VIII Conference arrived at the beautiful new Beta Mu chapter house on Friday, March 5, they found themselves in the midst of an Okinawan paradise.

Province VIII Tallahassee

They feasted on Oriental delicacies and watched the Greek-letter girls perform their favorite rush skit, "Teahouse of the Crescent Moon." Miss Elizabeth Lynn, president of the house corporation, presided at the dedication services for the newly constructed house; Maria Walker, Beta Mu president, gave the response for the Greek-letter girls and Mrs. Edward L. Vint, alumnae vice president, responded for Grand Council.

Mrs. Ellsworth Basset presided at the Saturday business sessions, attended by 103 Gamma Phi Betas representing five Greek-letter chapters and seven alumnae groups. Since Florida State University is the home of the famous Circus, the luncheon featured circus decorations and appointments, and Beta Mu girls, attired in circus costumes, seated the guests. Professor Harry Day addressed the luncheon group and warned the members to avoid being "pink tea ladies," and encouraged them to look upon the coming decade with awareness, enthusiasm and commitment.

Mrs. Vint was guest speaker at the Pink Carnation Banquet, hosted by Tallahassee alumnae. Special awards were presented to: Gamma Alpha for scholastic improvement; Alpha Theta for outstanding magazine sales and to Gamma Lambda for efficiency. Mrs. Charles R. Forman, PAD, made outstanding service awards to two alumnae groups: Tallahassee and Knoxville, Tennessee.

More than 200 Greek-letter and alumnae members from a tri-state area attended the Conference of Provinces IX and X at Stillwater, Oklahoma on March 5-7.

Province IX-X Stillwater

At the luncheon meeting on Saturday Miss Zelma Patchin, dean of women at Oklahoma State University, spoke on the "Fantasy, Fact and Future" of campus organizations. (See text of speech on page 6.) Mrs. Ram Morrison of Oklahoma City presided Saturday night at the traditional Pink Carnation Banquet attended by alumnae from four states and collegiate members from eight Greek-letter chapters. In her after-dinner speech, Mrs. Henry Egbert, international director of finance, said that the need for education is greater than ever before and opportunities for service are greater.

Mrs. Judson Bryan of the Stillwater alumnae chapter served as general chairman and Miss Olive Galloway acted as presiding chairman of the convention. National and province officers in attendance were: Mrs. L. W. Kabler, international convention chairman; Mrs. I. E. Weirich and Mrs. Charles Shafer Jr., PADs and Mrs. Philip P. Thurston and Mrs. C. Wells Haren, PCDs.

Beta Rho chapter and the Boulder alumnae entertained members from Colorado, Wyoming and Nebraska chapters at the Province XI Conference at Boulder. Delegates became acquainted at an informal coffee hour on Friday evening at the chapter house and a continental breakfast was served early Saturday morning.

Province XI Boulder

The opening business sessions were conducted at the Beta Rho house and the buzz sessions at the Student Union. Sally Willyard was toastmistress at the luncheon at the Union Building and Mrs. Henry Egbert, director of finances, spoke briefly on the "Dynamic Decade Ahead."

Delegates returned to the Beta Rho house for the Pink Carnation Banquet and heard Professor Glen Barnett of the University of Colorado speak. Bettye Egbert says, "It is interesting to note that two other sororities were holding their regional conferences in the Boulder campus the same week."

About 100 Gamma Phi Betas gathered at the Alpha Lambda "Fireside" on Friday, March 5, to kick-off Province XII Conference in Vancouver. All meetings were held in the Panhellenic Building on the University of British Columbia campus and meeting rooms for the buzz sessions were loaned by other sororities.

Saturday's luncheon was catered to the meeting rooms and the delegates were delighted to receive their meals, hand-somely boxed especially for the occasion—each bearing a gay "Hi, Gamma Phi" placard and topped with a lovely fresh vanta orchid.

Buzz sessions filled the morning and afternoon and Mrs. Robert Sorenson's talk on "You're a Gamma Phi for Life" and "Preparing for Civic Life" drew much comment. Five Greek-letter chapters requested copies to take home to their members.

The Carnation Banquet on Saturday evening featured a talk by Dr. Hilda Bone McKenzie, a Gamma Phi Beta faculty member of the University. A little sidelight on international protocol was relayed to the CRESCENT by Mrs. A. William Douglass, PAD. At banquets in England and Canada no one may smoke until the Queen has been toasted and this is usually done with wine at the end of the meal, after demitasse. As a gracious gesture to the delegates from America, the toast was drunk—in water—as soon as the guests were seated at the banquet tables.

National and province officers on hand for the weekend were: Mrs. Douglass, Mrs. Robert Gregory, PCD, and Mrs. Frank Hiscock, alumnae vice president from Seattle.

Gathered at the Province IX-X conference are Virginia Lippert, alumnae president; Bettye Egbert, director of finance; Mrs. Jemison; Mrs. Judson Bryan, general convention chairman; and Olive Galloway, chairman.

The PCD special award is presented by Mrs. Louise Berner Tillotson to Mary Earl Skewis and Sharon Klass of Beta Alpha.

Alpha Iota and Beverly-Westwood alumnae chapter were hostesses for the Province XIII and XIV Conference at U.C.L.A. on April 23 and 24.

Province XIII-XIV Los Angeles

General chairman of arrangements was Mrs. Mary D. Schuster who worked with alumnae directors, Mrs. Ruth Dawson and Mrs. Louise Tillotson and with Miss Tajie Baum of U.C.L.A.

Mrs. Aileene Thieme, publications chairman, presided at the business sessions and Ann Rieber, chapter president, served as toastmistress at the Pink Carnation Banquet on Saturday night at the Sportsman's Lodge in Sherman Oaks. Mrs. H. E. Wittenberg, N.P.C. delegate and former Grand President, was the keynote speaker.

Awards for outstanding achievement were presented to collegiate chapters: Scholarship—Beta Alpha; Scholarship improvement—Gamma Theta; Efficiency—Alpha Epsilon; Officer's notebooks—Beta Lambda. A special PCD award was given to Beta Alpha for initiating 100 per cent of its pledge class.

Mrs. Margaret Moore Sawyer presents the Greek letter Efficiency award to Linda Holmes and Sheryl Evans of Alpha Epsilon at the Province XIII-XIV conference.

Katherine Legge Award

Greek letter and alumnae chapters in Province XIII voted unanimously to perpetuate the memory of Katherine Boole Legge, Eta '26, by making an annual award to the outstanding Junior girl in each of the four Greek letter chapters: Eta, Alpha Gamma, Beta Theta, and Gamma Theta.

Katherine Legge, who died suddenly in January 1965, was a devoted member of Gamma Phi Beta throughout her collegiate and alumnae days. She felt that the fraternity system could contribute to society by emphasizing education, stressing the standards program, and encouraging constructive and beneficial programs. She contended that sororities and fraternities can and should recognize and develop the potential of each pledge. Because of this belief, it was decided that an outstanding junior student be selected to be the recipient of this award in the hope that she will be an inspiration to underclassmen.

The executive council and alumna adviser of each chapter will choose a girl from the junior class who expects to return to school for her final year. She must have a higher than average scholastic record, must have contributed to her chapter, must have participated in campus activities, and must have given some service to the community.

The winner's name will be engraved on a plaque which will remain in the possession of the chapter, and she will receive a personal gift chosen by the Province Alumnae Director and the Province Collegiate Director.

They've Given Cinderella a Key

Cinderella was the first, and certainly the most famous, girl to ever have a curfew. If Cindy were a co-ed today, she might have a senior key . . . and no curfew. In December THE CRESCENT will bring you an article on the history, the current status and the pros and cons of this new freedom, the senior key. Written by Mary Margaret Garrard, this will be the third in the series of "Operation Brass Tacks."

Lindsey Barbee Fellowship

The Lindsey Barbee Fellowship Award for $1000.00 will be awarded April 1, 1966. This award is open to any woman holding a Bachelor of Arts degree and planning to take graduate work in the field of Education. It is not necessary that the field of study be limited to Social Service. Anyone interested may write for an application to:

Mrs. John Heaton
24 Roxbury Road
Scarsdale, New York 10528

Applications must be returned to Mrs. Heaton by March 1, 1966. The Philanthropy Board reviews all applications and is assisted in the final decision by a competent group of Gamma Phi Beta alumnae from the Greater New York area. The winning candidate is notified on April 1, 1966 and may choose to have the award in one check or divided for two years of study.

JUDY DAVIS WARNER, PCD Province XIV, is the mother of four daughters ranging in age from a second grader through a high school senior. Husband Barney joined Phi Kappa Psi at Minnesota where they both were graduated. ■ She was active in Minneapolis affairs until the family moved to La Jolla in 1956. In California Judy is president of the local Republican League, vice president of the children hospital auxiliary unit, social chairman of the Lamplighters, and active in the Torrey Pines Christian Church. ■ Asked by friends how she felt about spending so much time for Gamma Phi Beta Judy replied, "As a mother it has given me great insight into the teenage mind. Few people realize how much need there is on our campuses for moral and spiritual guidance. The schools are simply not geared to give this to their students. This is where we can and do step in to help . . . this is worth all the time each of us can give."

BARBARA WATTS LASELL, PCD Province XIII, and her husband are third generation graduates of the University of California at Berkeley. The Lasells have three daughters: the eldest is married, one is in high school and another in elementary school. ■ Barbara has held various offices in the Berkeley alumnae group, and is currently serving as rituals chairman. She has served on the Eta house corporation and headed up the initiation team at the San Jose State installation of Beta Theta. ■ When Barbara isn't working for Gamma Phi Beta she keeps busy with the Girl Scouts and with the local hospital auxiliary. And, to round out a busy life, she gardens, practices flower arranging, and knits and sews for the girls. The whole family spends many hours swimming where each is working on his 50 mile pin for the Red Cross.

BARBARA BISSELL, Traveling Secretary, was graduated from Rollins College where she was awarded the Algernon-Sidney Sullivan award. ■ Always active in Alpha Mu she served her chapter as pledge class president, assistant pledge trainer, alumnae chairman and chapter president. On the campus she worked as secretary of the psychology club (her major), chairman of the Union Board of Managers . . . and you'll find her listed in Who's Who.

MARGARET MILLS, Traveling Secretary, came to the Gamma Phi Beta traveling team from Southern Methodist University in Dallas where she majored in French and earned her teacher's certificate in that language. Margaret served her chapter, Alpha Xi, as rituals chairman, efficiency chairman and chapter president—a post she held for two years. ■ Margaret's grades placed her on the dean's list, and her activities included the secretaryship of the all women's recreational association. Home is in Annandale, Virginia.

KATHIE SPISS, Traveling Secretary, brings to Gamma Phi Beta a broad range of activities and experiences from the University of Wyoming and from the Gamma Delta chapter. ■ Campus activities included the Cosmopolitan club, Rodeo club, SEA, Branding Iron staff, and the senate elections committee. Kathie found time to hold several important offices in the chapter including that of Panhellenic delegate, membership chairman, and chapter president. In addition to the heavy activities schedule there was time to serve as receptionist in a university cafeteria for three years.

When we finished reading the following piece about Irene Styan Van Alstyne, Omicron '26, we realized that what our tired old, frantic world needs is less psychiatrists and more horticulturists. What on this green earth could be lovelier than 1200 orchids in your very own garden!

Orchids to Retirement

by Noreen Zahour

When Irene and her husband moved to Fort Lauderdale, Florida nine years ago, they discovered a whole new world of gardening—the kind of tropical flora that the most-fertile mind of a northern gardener could never imagine. In a very short time, orchids became their first love. Mr. Van Alstyne, who nine years ago ‘couldn’t tell a weed from a pansy’, has become the president of the very active Men’s Garden Club of Fort Lauderdale—a club of over 150 active members. Irene is not only an officer and trustee of the Fort Lauderdale Orchid Society and a member of the American Orchid Society and the South Florida Orchid Society, but also writes (and edited for three years) the monthly Newsletter of the Fort Lauderdale group. She has contributed many articles to Orchidist Bulletin and Society papers. She recalls that her two years spent as a reporter for the Daily Illini, have served her well. Recently too, with the help of color slides, she has travelled all over the state of Florida, and some of the nearby islands, giving orchid travelogues and orchid lectures.

Some of the 70 different genera and 1200 plants which the Van Alstynes grow in three slat houses and all around their patio, posts and flower beds and borders have come as personally discovered specimens from their “orchid hunts”. Florida, she tells us, has 100 wild orchid varieties which grow in the Everglades and Big Cypress Swamp. They embark on “orchid safaris”—wading knee-deep in mucky swamps. Since an encounter with an occasional cotton-mouth moccasin or an alligator is not uncommon, they never go without an experienced woodsman. Also the utter wilderness is possible to become lost in.

The Van Alstynes soon learned that almost all the West Indian Islands and Central and South America abounded in vast varieties of wild orchids, and began taking “orchid vacations.” They not only added to their already impressive collection, but became acquainted with a great number of interesting people who shared their interest. Through their journeys and article, they now have a world-wide span of “pen pals”. So far these trips have taken them to Mexico, the Island of Cozumel, Guatemala, Honduras, Panama, Colombia, Trinidad, Tobago, Barbados, Grenada, pre-Castro Cuba, and some of the Bahamas. One of their most “fun” trips recently was to Medellin and Bogota, Colombia. Medellin is Fort Lauderdale’s “sister city”. Irene invited some of their orchid growers to the annual Fort Lauderdale orchid show a year ago and they arrived bringing a gorgeous collection of cut orchids. When they returned home, these growers founded the Colombian Orchid Society and when the Van Alstynes visited there recently, they were understandably treated as “founding royalty”! In the future, they plan to extend their journeys to Hawaii and the Orient.

Not only have the Van Alstynes taken a number of Silver Trophies and Blue ribbons in the orchid societies, but also they continue in their other gardening interests as well. Irene recently won the Silver Sweepstakes Trophy, two other Silvers and several Blue ribbons in the annual Garden Club Flower Show. Their slat houses also grow ferns, begonias, spathiphyllums, aroids, anthuriums, violets and other lovely more-common garden species. In the outside beds and borders there are ginger, Bird of Paradise, Heliconias, crotons, poinsettias, caladiums and many varieties of palms, and flowering trees.

The interesting and attractive pots for the orchids are molded by Irene—the world of ceramics opening to her from the world of orchids.

Irene attended the University of Illinois in 1925, 1926 and won campus honors while there. She has two married daughters (one a Gamma Phi Beta at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio) and six handsome young grandchildren.

We are very proud of this lovely, active Gamma Phi Beta and hope that she sometimes wears her beautiful sorority pin beside her orchid corsage.

By the light of the Crescent Moon

All magazine editors burn the midnight oil . . . most sorority editors (according to our printers) burn the candle at both ends . . . but we who staff THE CRESCENT are more fortunate than most. We work into the night, too . . . but by the light of the crescent moon, and somehow that makes it all seem brighter. So many things come across our desk—exciting things, inspirational things, humorous things. And there are just so many pages in each issue (especially this September one with its chapter honors section . . . it's a whopper!). With all this race for magazine space we think you'll want to know about some of these happenings, if only in capsule form.

The Irma Latzer Gamble Center

MacMurray College in Jacksonville, Illinois, paid tribute to one of its trustees, Mrs. Merritt C. Gamble (Omicron), in naming its new campus activity building "The Irma Latzer Gamble Center." The $808,000 Center, which opened in January, provides social, cultural and recreational facilities for the campus community. In April more than 100 persons attended a dinner in Mrs. Gamble's honor and her portrait was presented to the college by her son and daughter, Mrs. Robert J. Riddell (Omicron). Married to Merritt C. Gamble, retired president of the Piggly Wiggly chain stores, Mrs. Gamble has been a member of the board of trustees for 20 years and has received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree. She spearheaded the development of a new Arts and Sciences center in Peoria which opened in the spring and she serves on a national committee for the Girl Scouts. Quite a lady of distinction!

These Girls Are Real Fellows

For at least two graduating seniors, their studying days are not yet over. They have been granted Woodrow Wilson Foundation Fellowships for graduate study for the academic year 1965-66. Penny Gill Martin (Northwestern) and Barbara Ann Grupe Pandzik (Nebraska) were elected to this honor from more than 11,000 faculty-nominated college seniors in the United States and Canada. As Fellows they will receive tuition and fixed fees at the graduate schools of their choice plus $1,800 for living expenses.

San Diego State

Certainly a chapter on-the-go (and under trying circumstances) is Beta Lambda at San Diego State. Last year they helped form San Diego Collegiate Panhellenic and the group's first president was Vicki Gray, Gamma Phi Beta. This spring she handed the gavel over to her Crescent sister, Charlotte Calvert. Gayle Christiansen, who edited the school yearbook last year produced a dramatically artistic annual for Collegiate Panhellenic this spring. Photographically and editorially, it's superb. Congratulations to you three girls and all of Beta Lambda for a job well done.

Golden Anniversary for Rho

Next October 23 and 24 Rho chapter will have a gala celebration marking fifty years on the University of Iowa campus. Collegiate members and area alumnæ are already hard at work. They're hoping to have a record crowd . . . so mark it on your calender now and plan to see old friends and make some new ones at Iowa City on October 23.

Join the Jet Set

Attention all seniors! If you haven't thought about the joys and rewards of jetting around the country as a traveling secretary for Gamma Phi Beta, do think about it now. Read the article by Valarie Scott on page 11 and sit right down and write a letter to Mrs. Robert Smith, 4449 Ackerman Blvd., Kettering, Ohio 45429. She'll be happy to send you all the information.

Beethoven, Bicycles and Buffalo

If that little moppet from "Peanuts" (the one who's the Beethoven expert) wasn't at the Kinder Konzert in Buffalo, New York last spring, he's one of the few who missed it. Or maybe he waited too long to order his tickets—it was a complete sell-out. This was the Philharmonic Kinder Konzert, first of its kind in the area, designed for children from 6 to 8 and sponsored by the City Panhellenic. It was a complete success. No difficulty, no incidents, the Philharmonic ushers were captivated with the youngsters whom they termed "the dressiest crowd of the season." The program didn't play down to the young listeners and conductor Richard Dufallo seemed conversationally and musically attuned to the very young temperament. No little bit of the credit went to Gamma Phi Betas' hard work and especially that of Mrs. William Engel, a Buffalo alumnæ.

Message from Moscow

We're awfully sorry that we're so far removed from Moscow (Idaho, that is). The Gamma Phi Betas at the University there had a tremendous reception last June 13 honoring one of their most distinguished alumnæ. Carol Ryrie Brink, a 1915 initiate of Xi, was awarded an honorary Doctor of Literature degree by Idaho U. at commencement time and all the Xi girls were extremely proud!

Delts Get Gamma Phi's Goat

When Gamma Phi Betas at Southern California talk about someone getting their goat, they mean it—literally. After hours of practicing together for their annual appearance in Songfest, the Beta Alpha girls wanted to give a token of appreciation to their co-performers, members of Delta Tau Delta fraternity. They presented the Delts with a new mascot, a goat, on whose flanks they had shaved the greek letters Δ T Δ and Γ Φ B. The goat, named Oolie II, replaced the fraternity mascot who mysteriously disappeared two years ago. The boys gave the Gamma Phis a special good relations trophy engraved "Songfest 1965—with love—The Delts."

Service to Mankind

A truly remarkable woman in Iowa received the Service to Mankind award from the Greater Cedar Rapids Sertoma club last spring for her work with pre-school children. Mrs. Richard Sedlacek, a Gamma Phi Beta graduate from the University of Iowa, organized and is now the director of the pre-school program at the Jane Boyd Community Center. Besides her work at the center, Mrs. Sedlacek works with a Cub Scout den, the PTA, the Council on Human Relations, the AAUW, the YWCA and the Presbyterian church. Married to a surgeon, they have two daughters and one son.

Hats Off to the "Best Hatted"

On the Best Dressed list in Akron, Ohio, is Caroline Serviss Wallick (Alpha Nu '55) of the Summit County alumnae chapter. According to our correspondent Joan Buehl "she wears the title 'best hatted' extremely well."

Oops! We're Sorry

The collegiates at Beta Tau (Texas Tech) have written to tell us that they—not Alpha Zeta (University of Texas)—initiated Mrs. Wagner Carr.

Flash from the A.M.A.

Just as we were winding up this issue of THE CRESCENT, we received a release from the American Medical Association telling us that Betty Henby Sutter (Washington U.) has just been installed as president of the A.M.A. Auxiliary. It will be her responsibility to guide the 50 state and 1,169 county auxiliaries in carrying out community service and health education projects. She'll be making many official visits across the country while her Beta Theta Pi husband tends to his medical practice in St. Louis. You'll be hearing more about her in a later issue.

Service to Seattle

Seattle alumnae chapter has presented Crescent Awards to three members who have made outstanding contributions to their community. Each of these women holds a unique position in the Seattle area and has been a leader in the arts and humanities. They are: Virginia Milligan Garrett (Lambda '37) whose many paintings have been widely exhibited throughout the northwest; Beatrice Gray Cook (Omicron '23) who founded the Orcas Island Library, the only citizen-supported library of its size in the state of Washington; and Geraldine Anderson Lucks (Lambda '52) who has given exceptional service as president of the Women's Association of the Seattle Repertory Theatre.

Editorially Speaking

Just because her name no longer appears on the masthead doesn't mean that Ardis McBroom Marek (Epsilon) is out of sight. She may have put her blue pencil in moth balls, but she does keep busy. She's been speaking around the midwest to Panhellenic meetings, she's chairing the Centennial committee and she's handled the publicity for two fund-raising drives in Kankakee. With son Denny home from Northwestern Law School for the summer, and daughter Lori home from elementary school, and husband Jim home on weekends, she's accompanied each of them around the golf course on request. You'll never find a bored board in the Marek maison. . . . And speaking of editors, our associate editor Bev Figge has resigned, much to her—and our—regret. She has a big beautiful new home and tiny beautiful new baby . . . and there just wasn't enough time for it all. We'll miss her.

Better Boating Salute

Come on in—the water's fine! says Jo-anne Copeland Gooderman (Alpha Alpha '48). And we doubt that there is a more qualified judge of that in all of Canada. Last June the Canadian Boating Federation presented its award of merit to Jo-anne in recognition of her leadership in and contribution to education in water safety. Working as a member of the Junior League of Canada, Jo-anne has seen her plans and format for water safety shows used nationally—from New Brunswick to the west coast. Equally efficient out of the water, Jo-anne has handled two large fund-raising bazaars in Toronto; she has served as president of the alumnae chapter and is currently an executive in the Canadian Women's Opera Guild and chairman of the Children's Theatre. Congratulations and thanks are due this Toronto alumnae for her contributions to her community, her city and her country.

And More to Come

In the next issue of THE CRESCENT, we'll have loads of alumnae news . . . outstanding women . . . workable money-making ideas . . . philanthropic projects. There will be another "Brass Tacks" article and more about convention plans. So do be with us around the first of December.

The other day we happened to run across a quotation from William H. Danforth, father of the coveted Danforth Awards. Since this issue of THE CRESCENT is primarily devoted to the outstanding achievements of our collegiate members, it seemed apropos: "It was ridiculous for David to fight Goliath. Foolishness for Columbus to try to sail around the earth. Nonsense for the Wright brothers to dream they could fly. But suppose they hadn't tried! I dare you to aspire nobly, serve humbly, adventure daringly."

Mr. Danforth had the right idea. So do we.

B.L.H.

Irma Latzer Gamble, Omicron, was honored for her more than 20 years service to MacMurray College in Jacksonville, Illinois.

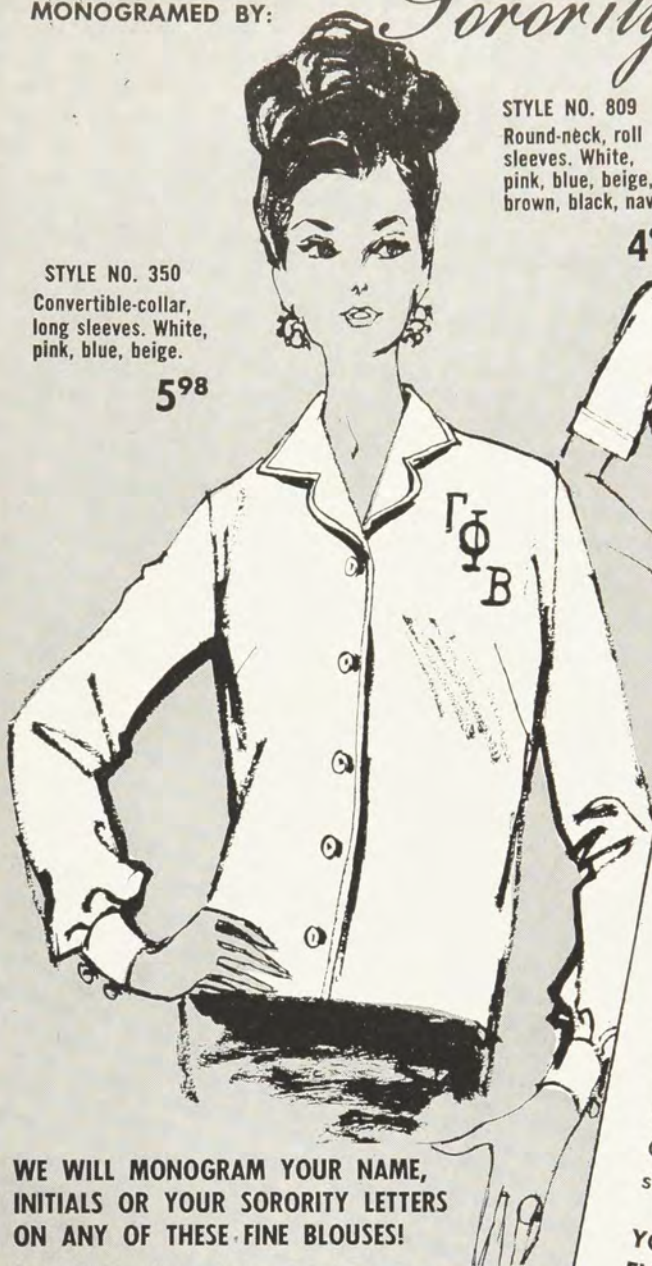

Jo-anne Gooderman, Alpha Alpha, receives Canada's highest award for her work in water safety.

Hot Springs, Arkansas—June, 1966

What's New About Convention

Don't Forget that Swim Suit!

Plan now on a swim in the twin Cascade pools at The Arlington Hotel in Hot Springs National Park, Arkansas. Built into a mountainside in this most famous old spa, the hotel boasts a large sun deck which leads to the two pools, set right into the mountain. Mountain trails beckon from the very door of the hotel. A roof garden invites loafers with its gaily striped lounges and umbrellas. Long shady verandas welcome quiet conversation. And there will be TIME to enjoy all these pleasures of Arlington living! A two-hour FREE lunch period will be a feature of the 1966 Convention. You may order a box lunch and eat on the sun deck, or you may join your friends in the beautiful dining room, and still have time for a dip!

Make your plans NOW—join old friends and sisters at The Arlington in Hot Springs, Arkansas, June 15-20th. Live a little!

It's New— Bring Your Blouse

Order your blouse for convention now!

Everyone who attends the Gamma Phi Beta Convention in 1966 is asked to bring a blouse, ordered through the sorority. Order one with your monogram, your first name, or the sorority's Greek letters. Make it white, pink, purple or polka-dotted—we don't care. Order it sleeveless, long-sleeved, short-sleeved, collarless or tied—we don't care! But order it now—an announcement will be made at the opening session giving you the day on which they are to be worn. Remember—our Expansion Gift fund grows by $1.00 for every blouse purchased through Gamma Phi Beta. Order yours now—so you'll be ready for Convention next summer . . . you don't want to be the ONLY one who forgot, do you?

It's New— Nouveaux Chapeaux

How many Gamma Phi Beta conventions have you attended?

Count them up—

Write them down—

And plan to come to The Arlington!

If you have attended three or more Gamma Phi Beta International Conventions (including the one at The Arlington) you will be eligible to receive a special Conventioneer's hat when you register. Bring artificial flowers from home—one for each convention attended—decorate your hat, and wear it to the big fun night doin's at convention. There will be a grand march, and prizes for our most Confirmed Crescent Conventioneers.

You'll Meet Them at the Arlington

Mary Lou Jenkins

Convention's Transportation Chairman, Mary Lou Jenkins, Nu '53, attended the University of Oregon, the University of Southhampton In England was graduated from San Jose State College in California.

Her brief teaching career ended when she married E. K. Jenkins II, a Sigma Chi graduate of Kansas State University. As vice president of E. K. Jenkins, Inc., mechanical contractors, he does a lot of traveling about the country and occasionally invites Mary Lou to join him.

In Wichita, Mary Lou's Community Service includes, many children's activities, AAUW, PTA board, YWCA building fund drive, and years of alumnae work for Gamma Phi Beta.

Helen Kaiser

When you arrive at the Arlington next June, you'll find your papers in order and your reservations complete . . . they will have been processed through the capable hands of Helen Griffiths Kaiser, Registration-Reservations chairman.

A graduate of Washington University, Helen was president of Phi chapter and was elected to Chimes, Mortar Board, Beta Gamma Sigma and Omicron Delta Gamma. She has held many offices in the alumnae chapter and wrote the checks as treasurer at the 1962 and '64 conventions.

Employed as a marketing analyst for General Electric since 1951, Helen also teaches a course in Marketing at her alma mater. She's active in community theatre work, United Fund, the American Marketing Association and . . . she is superintendent of her church school.

Eleanor Heminger

Conventioning Gamma Phi Betas have become accustomed to the sight of Eleanor Garm Hemminger (Epsilon) bustling around, seeing that everything runs smoothly behind the scenes. Our last three Conventions have been under her capable leadership, and now your new Convention Executive Committee feels fortunate to have Eleanor on hand as Chairman of Convention Printing and Publicity.

With the help of Florence Daugherty (Omicron) Eleanor revised the Convention Manual, chairmanned three outstanding conventions in three widely separated areas, and passed everything on to the new Chairman in apple-pie order.

So, look for Eleanor at The Arlington in 1966—looking a bit more relaxed than usual—but still there getting your pictures to the home town papers during Convention week.

June Jubelt

Heading up the work of your hostess chapters at convention is June Mathews Jubelt, Regional Chairman. A 1942 graduate of the University of Illinois, she brought honors to Omicron chapter when she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, Mortar Board, Alpha Lambda Delta and Torch.

In Manhattan June has worked consistently with the Gamma Phi Beta alumnae chapter, the Girl Scouts, Mortar Board and is a past president of her PEO chapter and the Medical Society Auxiliary.

Pediatrician husband Hilbert is director of the Student Health Service at Kansas State University and son Burk is sophomore member of Delta Upsilon. Daughter Wendy is in her second year of high school.

Doctor Hope Housel 1904-1965

Dr. Hope Housel (Beta Omicron '25), Oklahoma City University professor and former harpist with the Oklahoma City Symphony, died on May 11, 1965.

Born in Columbus, Ohio, Dr. Housel was educated in leading European musical conservatories and received MA and PhD degrees from the University of Minnesota. In later years she did graduate work at Columbia University and the University of Guadalajara, Mexico.

After studying the harp in Europe she played with German orchestras for several years and returned to the United States in 1933 after witnessing Adolph Hitler's burning of the books. In 1958 she returned to Austria as a Fulbright Fellow and taught English in the same high school that had enrolled Hitler and Adolph Eichmann in earlier years.

A professor of German and Spanish, Dr. Housel had been chairman of the University department of modern languages and retired from the symphony orchestra in 1958 after more than 20 years service.

She was honored many times in Oklahoma City. The most recent honor, early last May, was bestowed upon her by the American Association of University Women when they established a fellowship in her name.

A member of the Methodist church, Dr. Housel was also active in the Pilot club, Sigma Alpha Iota, Gamma Phi Beta, PEO, Cardinal Key, AAUW and the Urban League. She is listed in Who's Who in American Women.

Queens . . . Queens . . .

KARLA ROBERTS, a striking combination of beauty and brains, has been selected to reign over her campus as "Miss Queen of Hearts." An 18-year-old coed at California State College at Long Beach, Karla's title symbolizes the college's participation in the fight against heart disease. A member of Gamma Eta chapter, Karla carries a B average in the honors program—a program designed to give intellectual challenge to selected academically-superior students. In addition to her scholastic attainments, she still finds time for outside activities: she is an active participant in drama, piano and dance work at college and she teaches a pre-school age Sunday school class each week. Karla, a psychology major, plans to earn a PhD degree and hopes to become a child psychologist.

QUADRANGLE Queen . . . Julie Kneeland from Rho chapter reigned at the University of Iowa as Quadrangle Queen.

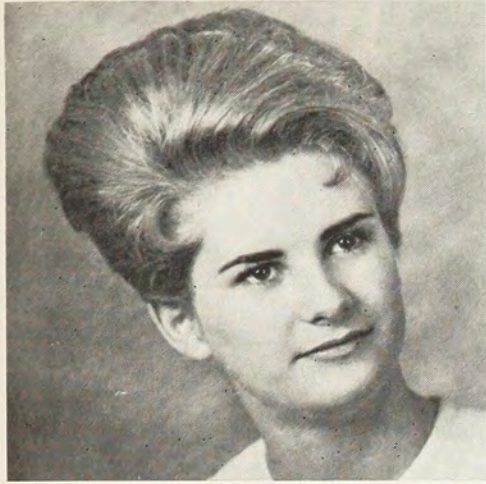

GINNY HARRISON, of Omicron chapter at the University of Illinois, was elected a Bates Dream queen in campus-wide balloting this spring. As Dream Queen she was feted by Bates Fabrics, Inc. during a whirlwind weekend in New York . . . and Bates presented Omicron chapter with a $500 contribution to their scholarship fund. Creating quite a stir even among sophisticated New Yorkers, Ginny met the press in a Courreges-style dress made from a Bates bedspread . . . the dress she is wearing in above picture.

MISS CONGENIALITY . . . June Nelson (left) of Gamma Kappa chapter at Kearney State College in Ohio and Ronnie Kostic from Bowling Green State University were each dubbed "the most popular girls in their schools."

Queens . . . Queens . . . Queens . . . Queens . . . Queens . . .

MAY QUEEN at Idaho State University is Pilar Ysursa who was also chosen for the Greek Hall of Fame.

SOONER YEARBOOK beauty is Twila Honea, a member of Psi at the University of Oklahoma.

WINTER CARNIVAL queen at the University of Washington is Karin Hill.

SWEETHEART of Sigma Chi at Memphis State University, Lynda Dollar, accepts her tremendous trophy from the fraternity president.

K-CLUB QUEEN Vicki Livingston of Gamma Kappa chapter was chosen by the lettermen at Kearney State College.

Queens . . . Queens . . . Queens . . . Queens . . . Queens . . .

THERE'S SOMETHING about a uniform that makes any occasion especially gala and these three girls reigned over the military balls at their schools. To the left, Sue Waller wears the crown at San Jose State College and, upper left, Cam McIntosh, reigns at the University of Washington. Cam was also a finalist in the Washington "Queen of Queens" contest. The Air Force students at Iowa State University chose Marbara McMahon, Omega, to be their queen.

Queens . . . Queens . . . Queens

HOMECOMING QUEENS . . . Upper left, Nancy Temple ruled over the Homecoming festivities at the University of Arizona where she is a member of Alpha Epsilon chapter and Patty Stiener, Alpha Beta, greeted the alumni at the University of North Dakota. Muhele Proctor, far right, spoke to the football crowd at the stadium at Bradley University. Muhele, Beta Eta, is also the junior class president and secretary of the Meri-N-ettes.

INTERFRATERNITY councils named Gamma Phi Betas as their queens at two colleges. Above, Ellen Erickson was the IFC queen at the University of Iowa and also served as the Angel Flight Commander. At the upper right, Hilary Goldwater was the San Jose Pom Pom girl and the Homecoming attendant for 1965. Jean Gray, Alpha Epsilon, was chosen the queen of the Interfraternity Pledge Council at Arizona.

BETA ALPHA—U.S.C.

The Chapter worked as a whole to win First Place Division in Songfest with the Delta Chis, First Place for Homecoming Decorations, Second Place in the Greek Games, Second Place in the Phi Sigma Kappa Pledge Relays, and a Participant Trophy from Troyland. The AWS Awards Assembly when the outstanding campus women are honored, turned into "Gamma Phi Beta Night," as Gamma Phis walked away with two Mortarboard members, including Vice President Betsy Spencer, three Chimes (Junior Honorary), eight Amazons (Jr.-Senior Honorary), two Spurs, two of the three Judicial Court Justices, and an AWS Senior Scroll of Honor to Brenda Broz.

Freshman Adrea Caldwell, after being chosen a Spur and a Judicial Court Justice, was elected President of Alpha Lambda Delta (freshman scholastic honorary), while Sharon Klass received the gavel of Homecoming Chairman from last year's Chairman, Mary Earle Skewis, another Gamma Phi. To keep it in the family, Mary Earle took over the job of Senior Class Secretary from graduating Brenda Broz, while Susanjo Broz prepared to go to Europe as one of the eighteen U.S.C. Scholars to Cambridge. Ruth Mackey, another Mortarboard member, was elected Panhellenic President, and Kathy Davis became Vice President of Spurs.

The Beta Alphas took more than their share of royalty, with nine princesses and eighteen little fraternity sisters. Brenda Broz was honored as U.S.C. Homecoming Princess, Marilyn Cashion was Sigma Phi Epsilon Princess, Jane House, Kappa Alpha Rose Princess, Donna Hartsock was Hollywood Park's Goose Girl, and Margot Webber became "Miss Management" of the U.S.C. Business School, a crown she received from last year's "Miss Management" Gamma Phi Jane Nungesser.

Pretty Michele Higue achieved the unique honor of being chosen Princess by two different fraternities. She was Pi Kappa Alpha Princess and Phi Kappa Tau Princess. Candy McPeak also had the unusual experience of pledging not only Gamma Phi Beta Sorority, but also Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity. She was one of the three coed pledges and took part in all the fraternity activities along with her pledge brothers. After going through Help Week and Rush, she was initiated into the active chapter as a full member.

BETA NU—U. of Vermont

Beta Nu's were well rewarded for a hectic but gratifying year. One glance at the huge ivory mantel crowded with trophies, bronze and silver, brings warm memories of a highly successful cooperative effort. Our ultimate achievement, the Lambda Iota Trophy, was awarded to Gamma Phi Beta by the Panhellenic Council. For recognition of overall excellence, this is the highest honor that a sorority on the University of Vermont campus can receive.

With traditional New England conservatism, Beta Nus are proud of having merited nearly every possible tribute and praise. We ushered in the brilliant fall colors with a notable place in the Homecoming poster contest. Our "Grin and Bear It" dimensional mural portrayed a beaming catamount astride a mournful Maine mascot. Greek Week brought further laudation to the Gamma Phi's as we were awarded the All-Greek Trophy for most outstanding Greek letter fraternal organization. Rushing season added twenty-one enthusiastic pledges to our spirited sisterhood. We worked strenuously to crown lovely Sheila Cronin princess in the annual Kake Walk festivities. Nevertheless, Beta Nu's realized the importance of study and UVM Honors Day added to our growing collection the Panhellenic Cup for highest scholastic average and the Panhellenic Plaque for greatest improvement in academic attainments. With more than half our girls on Dean's List, our expectations were surpassed when the names of Gail Seymour '67, and Norma Hanson '66, were among those listed as having secured highest scholastic standing in their respective colleges. Marsha Hopkins '67, received a Howard award for excellence in her freshman year. Jane Belcher '65, proudly wore her Phi Beta Kappa key during Commencement exercises. However, Beta Nu's were not concentrating on brain power alone, for their athletic abilities brought home the winning certificate for intramural sports.

At IAWS in Salt Lake City

The national convention of the Intercollegiate Associated Women Students brought together 20 Gamma Phi Betas from all over the United States. The convention, held at the University of Utah in Salt Lake City last March, was attended by 613 girls.

IAWS is the national organization of local AWS chapters found on many college campuses. The national association convenes biennially and regional conventions are scheduled on the alternate years.

Gamma Phi Betas attending the meeting compared notes on chapter organization and activities at a luncheon meeting on one day of the convention. The advisor to the delegation from Florida State University was Miss Elizabeth Lynn, an alumna of Beta Mu chapter. Joined by common fraternal bonds and their mutual interest in campus government, many new friendships got off to a good start in Salt Lake City.

Members of Gamma Phi Beta attending the convention were: Terry Heinrich, Alpha Upsilon, Pennsylvania State University; Sheri Long, Ann Brennecke and Karyn Schoepf, Theta, University of Denver; Deanell Reece and Carol Jo Wilier, Sigma, University of Kansas; Mary Ann Mercier and Gail Rogers, Beta Omicron, Arizona State College; Barbara Hansen, Gamma Theta, University of the Pacific; Dianne Wilson, Beta Lambda, San Diego State College; Vicki Dowling, Pi, University of Nebraska; Linda Morgan, Gamma Eta, California State at Long Beach; Susan Hills, Alpha Phi, Colorado College; Eileen Vandermark, Beta Phi, Indiana University; Paula Spence, Xi, University of Idaho; Connie Hall, Alpha Beta, University of North Dakota; Sharon Rice, Gamma Delta, University of Wyoming; Patsy Ryan, Beta Sigma, Washington State University; and Robbin Schoff, Alpha Gamma, University of Nevada.

BARBARA HANSEN, Gamma Theta
CRESCENT Correspondent

Peggy Punttenney (U. of Arizona) received the Danforth Award in home economics. With the honor came a two week trip to St. Louis to visit several industries and two weeks at the American Youth Foundation Camp at Stony Lake, Michigan.

Delegate to Japan

Barbara Johnson

Barbara Johnson (U. of Illinois) spent last June and July touring the Orient as a member of the Student Leader Delegation to Japan, Korea and Hong Kong.

Sponsored by the United States National Student Association and the State Department, the delegation was selected on the basis of knowledge of Asian affairs, academic record, cocurricular activities and ability to communicate.

It is easy to see why Barbara was chosen as one of the six members to represent the United States. She has served as executive vice president of the Student Senate (the only woman to do so) for three consecutive terms. She was twice elected NSA delegate by the student body and she was student adviser to the Panel on International Relations.

She was named to Phi Beta Kappa and Mortar Board and the Mademoiselle college board. Still to add to these is her beauty: She was a Homecoming Queen finalist and a member of the May Queen court.

SALLY SMITH, Omicron

Leola Neal Award

Laureen Snider

Laureen Snider, a 1965 honor graduate of the University of Toronto and a member of Alpha Alpha chapter of Gamma Phi Beta, has been awarded the Leola Neal Scholarship for academic excellence.

With her recently acquired bachelor of arts degree in psychology, Laureen will intern this summer at the Ontario Hospital for the Mentally Ill. Next fall she will enter the School of Social Work at the University of Toronto to study toward her master's degree.

As an undergraduate Laureen was the recipient of the Victoria College alumnae scholarship in sociology, the Humber Valley Village Kiwanis Social Service award, and the Alpha Alpha chapter scholarship shield.

Her new $100 grant is named for Dr. Neal, dean of women at the University of Western Ontario and a Gamma Phi Beta who has consistently promoted higher scholarship standards among sorority women. The award rotates among the Canadian universities and is open to members of all Panhellenic groups. Applications are made through the deans of women or the local Panhellenic groups and grades must be substantiated at the university level.

MEMBERSHIP CHAIRMEN

These addresses are to aid alumnae in sending Voluntary Recommendations, and to aid Greek-letter chapters in requesting recommendations.

ALUMNAE: Recommendations should be sent to the Alumnae Recommendations Committee Chairman (Membership Chairman) in the town where the college chapter is located.

COLLEGIATES: Requests from a Greek-letter chapter for recommendations should be sent to the Alumnae Recommendations Committee Chairman (Membership Chairman) of the rushee's home town. If there is no such Chairman listed for her home town, send the request to the State or Canadian Province Membership Chairman in her home state or province.

APO ADDRESSES: If the rushee has an APO address recommendations should be requested from the alumnae in the home town where the rushee attended high school.

Please send the requests as early as possible and include all available information about the rushee—such as father's name, home address, high school or other colleges attended.

BOOKS to inform . . . to assist . . . to enjoy

ONE HEART, ONE WAY, by Lillian Budd, is a youthful and touching novel about sorority life on the college campus. It deals with the growing pains, the newly learned responsibilities and the joys of sisterhood inherent in campus sororities.

Candy Howell, the young heroine, arrives at college with her heart set on pledging her mother's sorority, Sigma Omega. Due to sudden disappointment concerning a high school romance, however, she makes an unfavorable impression during rush week and is not invited to membership by any sorority. Through her love for music, she finally wins her way into the hearts of Sigma Omega and is pledged during open rush.

Her college years are filled with romance, sorority activities, and an intensive study of music. Her newly developed sympathy for her blind grandfather reunites her and her high school boyfriend, and they carefully plan their future together as Doctor and Mrs. Dan Peterson. With the help of other students, Candy climaxes her senior year by turning an abandoned wagon house into a lovely campus chapel, and she and Dan become the chapel's first bride and groom following commencement. Together they begin a life of new challenges dedicated to music, medicine and a mutual love for mankind.

This novel for young people will be of particular interest to girls in high school and college, and will be enjoyed by sorority members as well as by girls who hope to someday go through rush. It not only tells about the joys and frustrations of campus life, but it describes in detail the feeling of companionship and sisterhood shared by all girls who are bound together by their love for a sorority.

FINANCIAL AIDS FOR GRADUATE STUDENTS, published by College Opportunities Unlimited in Peoria, Illinois. More than 24,000 current graduate fellowships are listed with information on schools, qualifications, stipends, fields of study, and application dates. Compiled and edited at the request of several colleges and universities, its purpose is to make available, in one place, practical information about the millions of dollars in financial aids available to men and women seeking graduate degrees. Supplements during the year keep the information current.

A GUIDE FOR HOUSEMOTHERS, published by the Interfraternity Council of the University of Tennessee. This booklet is described as a manual for housemothers, but contains material useful to chapter presidents, advisers, members of corporation boards and the executive committees who work closely with housemothers.
