"Students should be armed with a 'portfolio of activities as a campus citizen.' "

Out the classroom window

"Like everyone else, college students need to belong, to learn and to teach, to love and be loved, to explore themselves and others, and to have purpose."—University of North Dakota study of student involvement in cocurricular activities.

Those who have been tracing the link between cocurricular activities and success in the job market say more research is needed to bless findings as scientifically pure. Nevertheless, existing studies overwhelmingly demonstrate the trend: seeds sown from curricular life tend to reap benefits in life after the campus.

Critics of higher education, urging colleges to become more laboratories for the real world, join a strong consensus that success usually belongs to the student who is graduated with a balanced education—the student whose campus life was a blend of good grades and cocurricular activities, especially in student government and fraternities and sororities.

The Carnegie Foundation Report on Colleges asks: "Should there be an assessment beyond course grades?" Are colleges and universities simply putting out technicians? The report stresses the most important skills gained and honed in college should be written and spoken communications. Higher education, the report says, also should require campus or community volunteer work. Students should be armed for the job market with a "portfolio of activities as a campus citizen."

THE CRESCENT found general agreement among university, corporate and Sorority spokesmen on the link between a balanced college education and obtaining a satisfactory job and advancing in a career.

Camille Cestone (Bowling Green), Gamma Phi Beta Leadership Training Coordinator and Province V Collegiate Director, is Director of Human Resources and Training for Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago. She says grades and campus involvement are of equal importance to an employer.

"A good balance of each is really the most impressive to a prospective employer," she says. "This balance indicates organizational skills and the ability to work with people to achieve goals."

A study at Cornell University showed "students involved in cocurricular activities successfully completed college in four years significantly more often than those who were not involved."

Is a college degree overstressed by employers?

"Not for professional positions," Camille says. "Degrees are now mandatory for those candidates with little or less than approximately 10 to 15 years of experience."

There is an ironic change in priorities upon completion of high school, where that one thing is drilled into students' minds: grades, grades, grades. To enter most colleges and universities, one must perform within certain percentiles of either the American College Testing Service (ACT) or the Scholastic Aptitude Testing Service (SAT). Both testing services have reported studies that compared high school and college grades with cocurricular activities as they related to success after college graduation.

"The only valuable factor," ACT and SAT reported, "was cocurricular activities."

Barbara Hurt-Simmons (Kearney St.), Gamma Phi Beta Collegiate-Alumnae Relations Chairman, says her involvement in campus activities and the several jobs she held "may have detracted somewhat" from her grades, "I was extremely involved . . .," says Barbara, now a manager with Kellogg Sales Co.

"An employer would rather see honors and activities and work backgrounds than strictly grades," she says.

Enter the satisfaction factor.

Assistant Director of Student Activities at the University of South Florida Nancy Donovan (Bowling Green) says: ". . . active, involved students are more satisfied with their college experience. This . . . carries over into their academics and they tend to achieve good grades."

Enter the Greek satisfaction factor. An article enti-

Crossroads program

Crossroads Program
Focuses on 'Strength' of Sorority

Gamma Phi Beta is a lifetime experience.

It is a lifetime of sisterhood, friendship and caring for sisters of all ages.

Traditionally, emphasis has been on collegians and young alumnae—the Sorority's "lifeblood." What about the Sorority's "strength"—older alumnae?

Gamma Phi Beta is developing a new program, Crossroads. Its objective is to enable sisters to help each other as they experience the crossroads of life—divorce, spouse's death, job loss, retirement and changes in health.

Ours is an aging society. By the year 2000, persons 65 years and older will represent 20 percent of the population, and the average woman will live seven years longer than her spouse. We are also a mobile society with geographically fragmented families. Often our sisters, especially older sisters, face the crossroads of life alone.

What does all this mean for Gamma Phi Beta and our roles as sisters? With the help of Crossroads information we can assist older sisters who might be widowed or divorced, or who experience a change in job status or living situation. We also can keep them involved.

Sisters helped each other in college and the same should hold true throughout our lifetimes.

Friendships for a lifetime

by Connie Clausen
Spanier (Oregon St.)

hat do I think about Gamma Phi Beta? Being a member for more than 50 years has been one of the greatest joys of my life.

I have glorious memories of collegiate days.

Our house on 8th and Jefferson in Corvallis was being rebuilt and would not be finished before rush week. We went ahead with our rush plans, accepting offers of churches, a fraternity house and other locations in which to hold our dinners and parties. Mother Olson, our housemother, and Millie, our cook, moved food and equipment from place to place in a big, old Packard. We were unique that year and successfully gained a terrific group of pledges.

The 1930s were lean years; most of us had limited means. Our chapter was strapped financially, as well as suffering from a small membership.

We were obliged to do house chores, clean bathrooms, iron napkins and whatever else had to be done to keep the house in spick and span order. There was resistance by some members, of course. I recall borrowing chairs for large dinners from the funeral parlor down the street.

After leaving college I worked and lived in various places on the Pacific Coast, and instant friendship was only a telephone call away. Alumnae chapters existed in most towns and cities and one was always welcomed.

Life in San Francisco has been fruitful because of the love and friendship I have received.

For years, San Francisco alumnae sponsored great rummage sales. We worked diligently all year in preparation for the event that would produce as much or more than $4,000 in one day. Those few of us of the original "rummage bunch" recently met for lunch to honor two of the group now living away from the area.

At a low point in my personal life, now many years ago, I was asked to take the office of Province XIII Alumnae Director. That assignment provided new interests, so much needed at that time. It was another way I could return in some way to Gamma Phi Beta what it had given me.

The alumnae chapter roster grew to 19 in Province XIII. Attending Sorority Conventions in all parts of the United States and Canada was special, and the Centennial Convention in Kansas City was a definite high point. In attendance were seven past Grand Presidents, all charming and forceful women. The Carnation Banquet always brings tears to my eyes. Being named to the Gamma Phi Beta Service Roll was another highlight of my life.

For more than two years I have been "retired." I dislike the word and choose to say I am in another phase of my life. I function now as a consultant and appeals specialist in the field of unemployment insurance. In 1986 I published a reference book on unemployment insurance for small employers in California.

It's not all work. My favorite recreation is to fly to some point in the world and join a cruising sailboat for a couple of weeks. I went on safari in Kenya and in 1985 spent three weeks in the interior of Turkey. Life is full of wonderful surprises and rewarding to those who participate in these adventures.

I would recommend to all Gamma Phi Betas that they join an alumnae chapter. There are projects out there just waiting for your assistance and, in turn, friendships with sisters of a common bond.

Editor's Note: Connie Spanier has attended seven Gamma Phi Beta Conventions, was Province XIII Alumnae Director from 1963 to 1968, and served three times as president of the San Francisco Alumnae Chapter.

There were no visible signs of drug usage and members were cautious when "outsiders" were present.

Rush without Quota

Chemical Dependency

Tangible rewards have come to Omega Omega Chapter. Radiant smiles reflect freedom from chemical dependency and joy in a quota pledge class.

The exuberance and pride seen today were nearly nonexistent a year ago. Rush had been a disaster. Despite the threat of monetary fines, many members failed to participate. Few rush guests attended Omega Omega's parties, and bids to membership were rejected. Little life remained in Omega Omega.

Two years previously the chapter had been a winner. Members were campus leaders, on rally squad, scholastically excellent, and involved in community and philanthropic activities.

Gradually, the overall chapter grade point average declined and a scholarship program was instituted by the international Sorority. Individual and group attitudes deteriorated. Suggestions for improvement were ignored.

Omega Omega's advisors, province collegiate director and collegiate consultant were at a loss to explain the sudden downward turn in the chapter. Not surprisingly, no one considered chemical dependency the cause. There were no visible signs of drug usage and members were cautious when "outsiders" were present.

Grades continued to decline. Money, jewelry, stereos, tape decks and other valuables began to disappear. Members were further demoralized by theft among themselves and trust declined to a new low. Omega Omega's spirit was being sapped by an increasing number of chemically dependent members.

Chapter leaders became frustrated in their efforts to revitalize Omega Omega, and finally gave up trying. The monetary fine system used for unexcused absences from rush, chapter meetings and activities was no longer enforced, resulting in another decline in attendance and participation. Most members dropped out of extracurricular activities and campus image was poor at best. Panhellenic total was 75; Omega Omega numbered only 30.

Having fallen short of Gamma Phi Beta's published minimum standards, the chapter was placed on probation by Grand Council. Probationary terms included specific goals in every area of chapter life as an incentive for action to rebuild the chapter.

Finally, with encouragement from advisors and officers, Omega Omega was forced to take a hard, realistic look at itself. Three key points were identified at a chapter meeting called to discuss the situation: members chemically dependent on drugs and/or alcohol were the source of the problem; the chapter's ills were aggravated through neglect; and chemically dependent members had been allowed to disrupt the order of the chapter.

Assistance from advisors, province collegiate director, collegiate consultant and campus professionals was necessary to continue the momentum begun at the meeting. They helped the chapter formulate an action plan:

- Sorority policies will be enforced, especially the penalty for drug use as stated in the Gamma Phi Beta Sorority Rules and Procedures:

No. 41

"Gamma Phi Beta standards of personal conduct prohibit the use and/or possession of narcotics, marijuana, any of the hallucinogens, or other illegal drugs. The use or possession of such drugs on Gamma Phi Beta property (rented or owned) also is prohibited. Any violation of these policies by a member or pledge shall be considered cause for immediate disciplinary action by Grand Council against the member, pledge, chapter, or both."

- Visitation (hours during which non-members are permitted inside Sorority living quarters) and alcohol policies will be enforced. Without exception, no alcohol will be permitted, consumed, or stored on Gamma Phi Beta property.

- Members with drug/alcohol problems will be

- Organize a child-care cooperative for working mothers.
- Collect and file members' resumé's.
- Invite a speaker to discuss small businesses, stress management, graduate degrees or computers.

Have you ever wondered if Gamma Phi Beta's SisterLink career network works? Or what happens to requests for information sent to Central Office?

Lisa Lepley (Indiana St.), a 1985 graduate used SisterLink in her job search after deciding to move from Chicago to Washington, D.C. to pursue a new career in computer sales. She completed and sent an order form to Central Office. Three weeks later she received a list of 57 names in the requested geographic code area, which included Delaware, Washington, D.C., Maryland and West Virginia.

Realizing Virginia was close to her target area but not included in the geographic code, Lisa then ordered that information. At the same time, she requested names of women in her field residing anywhere in the United States, thinking they might provide valuable contacts in the Washington, D.C. area. A list of 76 names was sent to her.

Within three weeks Lisa had heard from 20 percent of the women who received her letter and resumé. Some knew of no openings in her field or were too far from her intended locale. Others offered to meet her for lunch and provided additional contacts.

Although Lisa ultimately found a job through her own contacts, she discovered a wealth of talented Gamma Phi Betas. Her experience with SisterLink was a positive one, and she urges others to tap this Gamma Phi Beta resource and take advantage of the available contacts.

This information may be helpful to members using SisterLink:

—Geographic codes may include both target areas and those out of the area, such as the distance between Washington, D.C. and West Virginia.

—Computer rosters (lists of contact names) are received in three weeks or less.

—Some occupation codes are intentionally broad because of many job classifications. Be prepared to receive the names of women with job titles different from your field.

Marianne Baker wins acting award earned her a $1,000 scholarship.

She performed a five-and-a-half-minute monologue from an original drama written by a University of Oregon graduate student. It was "really kind of grueling, seeing these people act under pressure," said Marianne, who wants to pursue an acting career.

Although she did not win the national award in competition with 12 other regional finalists in Washington, D.C., Marianne was pleased with her performance and gained valuable experience. She also had the opportunity to work with professional actors, and to be seen by network television representatives.

Marianne Baker (Oregon) competed with 80 student finalists to win a regional acting award and an opportunity to represent the Pacific Northwest in the American College Theater Association's national competition. The award also for counseling. Those refusing will be asked to resign or membership will be terminated.

- The chapter will follow the terms of its probation and scholarship program.

- PACE (Personal and Chapter Enrichment) programs will focus on problem areas: rush, scholarship, sisterhood, service, and educational programs dealing with drug abuse, prevention, dependency and detection. The four PACE packets and Collegiate PACELETTERS on chemical dependency will be used.

- Each sister promises to participate in at least two outside activities.

- Establishing and implementing positive public relations programs focusing on other Greeks, the campus, the administration and parents will be a top priority during the next year.

A commitment was made to implement and follow through with the action plan. They pledged themselves to work diligently to make Omega Omega the best it could be. Chemically dependent members were encouraged and offered assistance in seeking professional help.

Omega Omega's success in overcoming its problems was due to the utilization of local and international Sorority resources, the enforcement of Sorority policies and self-examination. Fortunately, sloppy disciplinary procedures were reversed and standards tightened before it was too late.

Although Omega Omega is a fictional chapter, it illustrates how a Gamma Phi Beta charter can handle the problem of chemical dependency. Chapters infected with chemically dependent members are not doomed to failure. Leaders must take swift, decisive, firm action to combat the problems caused by these members.

Gamma Phi Beta Sorority strives to promote the highest type of womanhood. Chemical dependency is inconsistent with this purpose. As Gamma Phi Betas, we must take responsibility to care for each other as sisters, build self-esteem and help one another live up to potential. Our future as individuals and as a Sorority depends upon the creative and productive capabilities of each of us. Drug and alcohol dependency inhibit these capabilities.

Editor's Note: The International PACE Committee has developed two Collegiate PACELETTERS dealing with chemical dependency. The first was released in April, 1987 and the second will be printed this fall.

titled "Involved Students Are Happy Students—Or Are They?" by Richard McKaig of Indiana University and the Center for the Study of the College Fraternity concluded that a high degree of Greek involvement produces comparable satisfaction in social living, which, in turn, produces a more well-rounded person.

Greek life enhances development of skills needed in the work place.

In a study of leadership, the Hampton Institute reports that Greek life enhances development of skills needed in the workplace and is "the only place that allows failure while learning." In addition, the study concludes with a simple perspective of grades and the well-rounded individual: "Without grade motivation, there is no social motivation."

C. Robert Pace, in his study of alumni from different types of universities ("Measuring Outcomes of College"), found that college graduates earned 50 percent more than the national average and, of the 69 percent of alumni who held chief executive to mid-management positions, 61 percent had been fraternity or sorority officers.

Pace's survey, which included professionals who had been out of college for as long as 40 years, reported respondents felt that second only to the type of degree obtained, cocurricular activities were most important to success in later life.

Of cocurricular activities mentioned in the study, Greek membership rated highest in importance. Greeks, the study stated, are better prepared to solve problems.

Does the "honored" grad have a leg up with prospective employers?

"I think that it would depend on what organization confers the award or honor and the criteria on which the honors were judged," says Camille Cestone, who notes that minimum job qualifications legally can require more than a college degree or job experience, such as ability to communicate and "leadership potential."

Nancy Donovan said honor societies are beneficial if they provide leadership potential and contribute meaningful service.

Nancy, Camille, Barbara and Gamma Phi Beta Collegiate Vice President Joey Lessard Stiver (N. Dakota St.) all say Gamma Phi Beta plays a significant role in educational balance and benefits lives. Joey says:

In developing the highest type of womanhood, activities and grades go hand-in-hand. Balance is more impressive.

"In today's society, women have assumed a greater leadership role, be it in a career or as a volunteer. In developing the highest type of womanhood, activities and grades go hand-in-hand. Balance is more impressive.

"Sorority membership develops life skills."

And for those who reach for the moon, the Carnegie Foundation reports 71 percent of those who have been named to Who's Who in America and 85 percent of Fortune 500 company executives are members of Greek organizations.

The University of North Dakota study also stated that women who were highly involved in college activities were preferred as potential employees over less highly involved women and over all men, regardless of their level of involvement.

ALUMNAE NEWS

The Southern California Intercity Council biennial Founders Day dinner was attended by 695 members representing 43 chapters. Songs and reports from eight collegiate chapters were heard, and alumnae and collegians received awards.

Singled out as 1985 Woman of the Year was Edna Farner Grubb, a charter member of Alpha Iota Chapter at UCLA. She helped establish and held every office in the Glendale, Cal. Alumnae Chapter, and served eight years (including the presidency) on the Beta Alpha House Corporation Board at USC. According to many Gamma Phi Betas, "Edna's tact, diplomacy, dignity, intelligence and integrity, and her loyalty to the Sorority exemplify the principles of Gamma Phi Beta."

Winning the 1986 Woman of the Year award was Lois Kirchner Abbott (San Jose St.). Her accomplishments were noted in the spring 1987 issue of THE CRESCENT.

Edna Farner Grubb (UCLA) was named 1985 Southern California Intercity Council Woman of the Year.

Golden Crescent honorees were Doris Barton Andrews (Colorado College), Elvena Johnson Benson, June Blake Bernick, Charlotte Doughty Patch (all Iowa St.), Florence Cooper Blight, Eunice Devoin Easley, Mary Louise Whitney Hurtz, Mary Garvin Schuster, Mary Lou Lindsay Stutsman (all UCLA), Helen McCoy Delth, Jane Vance Dennis, Dorothy Roach Holston (all Northwestern), Betty Mills Buyer, Ruth Whitney McKee (both N. Dakota St.), Stella Hayden Kane (Wisconsin), Dorothy Mulholland Laurin (Oregon St.), Betty Voigt Meacham (Iowa) and Loulie Norman Price (Birmingham-Southern).

Houston's Founders Day luncheon honored Teet Charlton MacDonald (S. Methodist), Marguerite Young Davis (Missouri) and Helen McIntyre Webster (Texas) as 50-year members. Sixteen chapters were represented among the 40 sisters attending. Earlier in the fall, the group honored twelve of its past presidents with pink carnations, and sold home-baked goodies and handmade items at Houston's annual Sorority Sampler. The chapter's profits went to the Easter Seal summer camping program.

Claire Connelly Wallingford and Betty Shawver Reitz (both Kansas) attend the Greater Kansas City Founders Day celebration. Each wears the golden crescent pin, signifying 50 years membership.

At the "roast" in her honor, Ann Mullen Bronsing (Indiana St.) received a scrapbook of memories from Margaret Godbold Briscoe (S. Methodist).

Portland, Ore. alumnae and collegians from Oregon State and the University of Oregon celebrated Certificates and pink carnations were presented to 50-year members, and four prizes were raffled to raise funds to send a delegate to the next international Convention. Leta Earl (Oregon) entertained the group with her reflections on campus life in the 1920s.

Founders Day in Chicago was special as 180 Gamma Phi Betas gathered to share luncheon with the Foundation Board of Trustees and Northwestern University collegians. International President Randy Stevepps Guerra (Cal. St.-Long Beach) credited the Founders with being "creative, energetic, trail blazers and risk takers 112 years ago," as she encouraged today's Gamma Phi Betas to continue the tradition. Foundation Chairman Ann Mullen Bronsing (Indiana St.) stressed the importance of Gamma Phi Beta's newest endeavor, ownership of a national headquarters.

A special award, a gift to the Foundation in her name, was presented to Mary Jane Hipp Misthos (Colorado College), Epsilon House Corporation Board treasurer and former Director of Finance.

Charlene McPheeters Greener (Missouri), Evanston-North Shore Alumnae Chapter president, presented corsages to 50-year members Lillian Scott Cummings (Lake Forest), Polly Grove Haliday (Northwestern), Marcella Henry Herbert (Denver), Lucille Campbell Hoff (Wisconsin), Lula Anderson Ives (Michigan), Mary Jane Coleman Samuels (Northwestern), Jean Summers Smith (Washington) and Lee Leussen Sargent (Ohio Wesleyan). Linda Christensen Ray (S. Methodist), Chicago NW Suburban Alumnae Chapter vice president, presented a 50-year pin to Betty Hutchison Hughes (Illinois).

Wichita, Kan. alumnae held their first annual buffet luncheon fashion show last fall. Proceeds were donated to Wichita's Operation School Bell project, an all-volunteer group that provides clothing for needy children attending Wichita public schools. They were pleased with the response, which netted $700.

The Cleveland West Alumnae Chapter celebrated its 25th anniversary with a luncheon at the Harley House Hotel. A number of charter members joined the group to hear Joan Elliott Piper (Wisconsin), first president, speak about the group's activities over the years. Her nostalgic remarks included memorable events from the world at large.

Province III Alumnae Director Pat Pivonka Wagar (Bowling Green) was present, as were Sandra Biegelman Burba (Miami), Cleveland Alumnae Chapter president, and Shirley Kollmorgan Lagore (Kent St.), Cleveland East Alumnae Chapter president.

Nearly 100 members of the Greater Kansas City Alumnae Chapter gathered at Blue Hills Country Club to celebrate Founders Day and the 60th anniversary of the chapter. Entertainment was a style show featuring Gamma Phi Beta models.

Recipients of 50 year pins and certificates were Claire Connelly Wallingford (Kansas), Maxine Clough Sharp (Missouri) and Edith Lundberg Salisbury (McGill). Especially honored by the chapter for long and devoted service to Gamma Phi Beta were Margaret Overall Burnett (Kansas), chosen to receive the Woman of the Year Award, and Sue Dorsey Durett (Missouri), named to the Sorority's Merit Roll.

Nashville alumnae kicked off the year with a salad luncheon, and the next meeting featured a Chinese cooking lesson and dinner. A style show of holiday wear was the program for Founders Day, and the Autumn Art Auction benefitted the Buddies of Nashville and the American Cancer Society.

St. Louis alumnae hosted a "roast" for chapter member and immediate past Grand President Ann Mullen Bronsing (Indiana St.). Nita Waniger Steck (Wash.-St. Louis) served as mistress of ceremonies for the program which began with the presentation of a scrapbook of Convention photographs and reminiscences from international officers.

Judy Renje Seybt (Wash.-St. Louis) narrated "This Is Your Life in Gamma Phi," beginning with Ann's days as a pledge and fan of the Indiana State Sycamores. The guest of honor obliged requests to deliver the school's cheer—"Come on trees, give 'em the breeze!" Other sisters sang songs, told anecdotes and presented gifts related to Ann's Gamma Phi Beta activities.

Ginny Knight Crowley (Wash.-St. Louis), alumnae chapter president, concluded the evening of good humor, affection and sisterhood. On behalf of the chapter, she presented Ann with a gold bracelet of intertwined chains.

Thirteen charter members of Beta Sigma Chapter at Washington State University gathered for a slumber party/reunion. After dinner, they shared scrapbooks, pictures and memories, and brought each other up to date on their lives in the 30-plus ensuing years. They discovered the friendships of college days are easily resumed and continued without missing a beat. "We had a great time," said Virginia Williams Eshelman. "It's been a long time since we've had a slumber party, but we did have time for quality visiting and sharing—and very little sleeping."

The Palo Alto Alumnae Chapter honored two members with $200 donations to their favorite charities. Kate Clemans Snitjer (Stanford) and Phyllis Boltz O'Neil (Northwestern) were recognized for many years of selfless service to charitable causes, as well as continuous loyal support of the chapter.

Feeling the importance of reaching young girls and giving Gamma Phi Betas a chance to work with them, Phyllis designated the Gamma Phi Beta Foundation Camping Program as the recipient of her award, while Kate directed hers to Stanford Children's Hospital. As a Stanford student in 1924, Kate was part of Mu Chapter's volunteer program, helping boys convalesce at the then small hospital near campus.

Houston alumnae presented a check for $2,000 to the Gulf Coast Easter Seal Society during a telethon. The Gamma Phi Beta Foundation matched the $1,000 the chapter had raised to help fund Easter Seal's summer camping program for young girls.

Albuquerque alumnae continue to enjoy a special relationship with the Albuquerque Hearing and Speech Center. Each Christmas they stage a party for the preschoolers. Last year Mimi Fox (Iowa St.), chairman, arranged for Santa Claus to visit. Stockings and gifts made by Trudy Magee Grenko (Oklahoma) and Joan Hogan Laney (McGill) helped make it an exciting day for the children.

Since there is no Gamma Phi Beta collegiate chapter in New Mexico, Albuquerque alumnae have adopted Alpha Phi Chapter at Colorado College in Colorado Springs. They send greetings on holidays

Alumnae attending the Cleveland West celebration are (seated) Linda Gorsuch Mayer (Bowling Green), Dorothy Baxter Cibula (Miami), Beverly Blazek Ingram (Northwestern), (standing) Joan Elliott Piper (Wisconsin), Pasty Thompson Rauch (Texas), Jane Pihringer Mueller (Wisconsin) and Barbara Craton Moore (Syracuse).

Alumnae attending a birthday party for Delta Lambda Chapter (Cal.-Riverside) are Corinne Fossum Mensinger (Cal.-Riverside), Mary Baldwin Monier (Arizona), Dorothy Cox Kelly (UCLA) and Marie Walker Leonard (Nebraska). Marie is presenting the Sorority's 50 year pin to Dorothy.

The Ft. Collins Alumnae Chapter honored Colorado State pledges at a lasagne supper. Alumnae brought college memorabilia, including pictures, paddles and scrapbooks, to share experiences with their newest sisters. They told what it was like in the "old days" when the trolley ran down College Avenue; missing the last one resulted in a long walk back to the house.

A Merit Roll certificate was presented to Ft. Collins member Ann Correy Bevan (Colorado St.), who has held every chapter office at one time or another. She recalls when the chapter house was built 25 years ago, there were no funds left for draperies. Alumnae found a church basement with long tables and proceeded to make all the draperies for the house.

Northern Virginia alumnae presented their $1,000 Pollack Award to the Northern Virginia Training Center to be used for camping programs. The chapter received the award at the Dallas Convention in recognition of philanthropic generosity.

Stillwater alumnae entertained Oklahoma State pledges for dessert. Seniors were honored at a salad supper and welcomed to the alumnae chapter.

More than 40 Indianapolis alumnae turned out to honor Helen Patterson Brandt (Idaho) and to celebrate her 65 years as a Gamma Phi Beta. Helen is listed on the Sorority's Service Roll, and was involved in establishing Beta Pi and Beta Phi Chapters as well as several alumnae chapters. Many sisters brought pictures and told stories about Helen's activities through the years. The chapter presented her with a needlepoint picture as a remembrance of her day.

Virginia Gose Febinger (Denver) congratulates Ann Correy Bevan (Colorado St.), recipient of the Merit Award.

Helen Patterson Brandt (Idaho) displays the gift presented to her by Indianapolis alumnae.

"Imagine my surprise and delight when I discovered my son's pledge director was the son of my pledge director," said Rilla Casey Griffin (USC). Una Mae Brunskill Naulty Markle was her Gamma Phi Beta pledge director 33 years ago. Charlie Naulty, Una Mae's son, was John Griffin's Sigma Nu pledge director, also at USC.

Retired Norman, Okla. school teacher Viola Hatfield Smith (Oklahoma) was honored in a special manner for 25 years of teaching government to Oklahoma youngsters. Governor George Nigh proclaimed Viola Smith Day in her honor. She received the proclamation in front of the Oklahoma House of Representatives, where several of her former students now hold office.

Lois Shilling Davies (Ohio Wesleyan), youth worker, civic volunteer, teacher, author and humanitarian, was the recipient of the Troy, Ohio Jaycees Community Services Award. She was first noted as someone who cared about others when, as a teenager, she dived from a bridge to recover the body of a little boy. She went on to initiate water safety programs in Troy, begin the first Girl Scout troop in the city, and many other civic accomplishments.

She was director of teen programs at a local YMCA, worked for 20 years with the Girl Scouts, and served as executive secretary of the Miami County Child Welfare Board and of the Miami County Chapter of the American Heart Association. She has written several books, and won four medals in the 1981 Ohio Senior Olympics.

Irma Hoech Matthew (Oregon St.) is vice chairman of the Wasco County, Ore. Republican Central Committee.

Sarah Mayer (Iowa St.) said her work as a flight attendant for Western Airlines "is in some ways a continuation of sorority life. Each day of flying is like a day of rush. In this case the passengers are our rush guests. We have a short time to show them our hospitality and friendly personalities." She is based in Utah.

Of the 150 1986 graduates of the USC Law Center, four are Gamma Phi Betas: Karen Glick (Cal.-Irvine), Christine Perakis (Oregon), Nancy Ormiston and Marguerite LaShell Sadler (both USC).

Barbara Laue Faaborg
(Iowa St.)

Kim Steffen Merchant (Iowa) is the author of the Love Barometer

Merrilyn Maurer Leuthold (Minnesota) has been elected to the board of directors of The Association of Junior Leagues. She was elected at the annual conference, and serves as international headquarters selection chairman. Also on the board of directors of The Association of Junior Leagues is Bridget O'Leary Piper (Kansas), who holds the position of nominating director.

Modesto, Cal. Mayor Peggy Boothe Mensinger (Stanford) accepted for her city the American Automobile Association Grand Award. It recognizes communities with effective pedestrian accident protection programs.

Teachers Sherry Hart (SW Oklahoma St.) and Lisa Saxenian (Texas Tech) join in the fun of Dress-up Day at Lake Air Middle School in Waco, Tex.

Six Pi Chapter (Nebraska) alumnae sport t-shirts designed for a reunion in California. They are (1st row) Sylvia McNally Jenkins, Julie Moran Pearson, LaRae Richter DiSanti, (2nd row) Joan Myhren Hughes, Patty Barrett Anderson and Jeannine Fenton Jacobs.

Bea Burke Farwell (Iowa St.) is co-author of a collection of recipes from around the country, America's Best Appetizers. It includes the specialties of many governors, and was also illustrated by Bea. Another Iowa State alumna, Barbara Laue Faaborg, is co-author of a source book for Colorado women, Job Resources for Colorado Women—Where To Find Good Advice Cheap. It is designed as an aid for single mothers, professional women changing jobs and for mothers returning to work "after years of sorting tube socks."

Constance Rutt Arana (Idaho St.) has been appointed executive director of the Idaho Centennial Commission. Idaho will observe its statehood centennial in 1990, and she will be responsible for coordinating and implementing policies, plans and programs made by the Centennial Commission. Constance is the alternate delegate to the 1986-88 Gamma Phi Beta Nominating Committee, representing Provinces XII and XIII.

Ruth Potter Day was declared in Harlan, Iowa to honor Ruth Neff Potter (Iowa) and her contribution to music education. She has taught more than 1,000 students in piano and organ, as well as 14 years substitute teaching in the public schools. Ruth represented Harlan nationally, state-wide and locally through the Iowa Federation of Music Clubs for which she served as president four years. She was also a member of the board of the National Federation of Music Clubs for 12 years.

The mayor of Harlan presented the official proclamation at a celebration which featured a program and reception. Three generations of students, many from out of town, were there to honor her.

Ann Montgomery Robinson (Texas Tech) is a full-time volunteer who has committed her life to raising money for cystic fibrosis. Her 9-year-old son has the disease.

Under her direction, contributions to Cystic Fibrosis Research, Inc., a Palo Alto, Cal. based all-volunteer, non-profit organization, have risen from $26,000 in 1982 to $227,000 in 1986. Ann volunteers her time "because I think I can make a difference. Someone has to raise this money for research."

Joan Elliott Piper (Wisconsin), a suburban Cleveland high school teacher, has been awarded the Jeannette Wagner Teacher of the Year Award from WVIZ-TV. She returned to teaching 11 years ago after 20 years off to rear three sons and found herself assigned to teach radio and television, broadcast journalism and English. With a degree in public speaking, she had virtually no experience in the radio and television area and was soon taking classes at Cleveland State University to learn all she could to more effectively teach her new subject.

Eventually, as a result of her hard work and her students' involvement with a new cable television franchise, the school was awarded a cable channel and lots of new equipment. Now her students are producing award-winning programs, two of which have focused on child abuse and drug abuse. Jody helped organize and was first president of the Cleveland West Gamma Phi Beta Alumnae Chapter.

Nurse Shelly Dalton (Oklahoma St.) is a second lieutenant in the Air Force, stationed at Wilford Hall Hospital at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio. She was chosen to participate in a video demonstration of proper care for patients with rare blood diseases.

The Kansas Health, Physical Education and Recreation Association has named Bobbie Dinsmoor Harris (Wichita St.) Teacher of the Year. She is a physical education teacher, pompon sponsor and tennis coach at North High School in Wichita. Bobbie has served the local alumnae chapter as secretary and president, and is an advisor for Beta Chi Chapter.

Karen Joost Henry (Wis.-Mil-

Donna Farkas Craig and Betsy Barbat Stires (both Lehigh) have developed a series of 28 videotapes in English and Spanish which explain surgical operations to patients in layman's terms. They are marketed under the name Informed Consent Systems through Filmtec, Inc. of Reston, Va.

The Love Barometer might sound like a television program, but it's a communication tool for couples created by Kim Steffen Merchant (Iowa) and husband Jim. It consists of two identical workbooks—one for each partner—filled with thought exercises designed to encourage couples to share their thoughts and feelings.

"We go into subjects like your partner's habits," said Kim. "Do they make you scream or smile?" Another of the eight sections focuses on love words, and filling out the workbook offers the couple an opportunity to dream, remember and share. Sold through card and book stores, the Love Barometer is also available from Kim for $8.50 at Just Us!, P.O. Box 1656, Pinellas Park, FL 34290-1656.

History of the Endowment Fund

By Ardis McBroom Marek, Capital Endowment Campaign General Chairman

This chronological account of Gamma Phi Beta's Endowment Fund must pay tribute to a number of wise, forward-thinking women who introduced creative financing before it became a commonly used term. Their names will appear as the history unfolds.

1915 Convention, Asilomar, Cal.: Blanche Shove Palmer of Syracuse proposed the establishment of an Endowment Fund. She suggested alumnae chapters pay into a fund, the income from which would be used to carry on the work of the Sorority. The first contributions were collected by eager Stanford Gamma Phi Betas on the train returning delegates to San Francisco after Convention. Total . . . $11.00!

1917 Convention, Baltimore, Md.: In her Convention report, Grand President Carrie Morgan suggested income from the Endowment Fund be used to finance transfer students to be sent to assist new chapters.

A slow increase in the Fund was worrisome. Thus, in 1921, Grand President Lindsey Barbee appointed a committee, headed by Kittie Lee Clarke of Denver, to explore new methods of increasing the Fund. It was Miss Barbee's suggestion that insurance endowment policies, which would mature in 10 to 15 years, be taken out by collegiate chapters insuring their youngest members. The chapters would pay the premiums and, when the policies matured, the proceeds would go to the Endowment Fund. If one of the insured died during the life of the policy, proceeds would go to the member's family.

By this means, plus generous gifts, the Fund increased from $1,000 in 1919 to $50,000 paid and pledged in time for Gamma Phi Beta's 50th anniversary at the Lake Placid Convention in 1924. Thirty chapters contributed to this insurance plan offered by Aetna Life Insurance Company.

1924 Convention, Lake Placid, N.Y.: The Convention voted to remove the Endowment Fund from the general treasury, deposit it with Harris Trust Co. in Chicago, and establish a National Endowment Board. Requirements for Board membership were residence in the Chicago area with each member having been initiated at a different collegiate chapter. The first Board included Lillian Thompson, Beta; Marjorie Etnyre, Gamma; Lucy Babcock, Alpha; and Marion Van Patten, Epsilon. The first meeting was December 27, 1924.

1931 Convention, Bemidji, Minn.: Convention delegates voted to amend the constitution to give guardianship of the Crescent Fund (money collected from each initiation fee for lifetime subscriptions to THE CRESCENT) to the Endowment Board. The name of the Board was changed to Endowment-Crescent Board.

1934 Convention, Colorado Springs, Colo.: At the Broadmoor in Colorado Springs, recommendations were adopted relating to the use of the Fund. A revolving loan fund was established, and income from the Endowment Fund, after money was set aside for the Lindsey Barbee Fellowship, was allocated to the general good of the Sorority. This was defined to include Central Office expenses, chapter inspections and exchange students.

1948 Convention, St. Louis, Mo.: The Endowment-Crescent Board reported the Crescent Fund had been surveyed by an actuary. He recommended the constitution be amended to provide for loans from this Fund to chapter building corporations established five years or more. No more than one-third of the Fund could be used for this purpose. The amendment was adopted unanimously.

1968 Convention, Pasadena, Cal.: Legislation was passed providing for four directors for the Endowment-Crescent Board, to be elected at Convention thereafter, and drawn from women living within a 100-mile radius of Chicago.

Three ex-officio members—Grand President, Director of Finance and Executive Secretary—were added to the Board.

A resolution was adopted to have a corporate structure financial study made, particularly as related to provisions of the Internal Revenue Code concerning tax exempt status of non-profit organizations.

1970 Convention, Dallas, Tex.: The new Federal Tax Reform bill provided that all investment income of a non-profit organization be taxable unless used for educational and charitable purposes. Thus the Convention voted to establish four funds to carry out the financial obligations of the Sorority: the General Fund of dues, fees and taxes to be used for Sorority business and affairs; the Gift Fund from Founders Day contributions, gifts and other sources to be used to assist chapters in need; the Endowment Fund, a trust fund, with the net income to be used exclusively for educational and charitable purposes; and the Loan Fund, net income and principal to be used to provide loans and financing for chapters. The Chicago residency requirement for membership on the Board was voted out.

1986 Convention, Dallas, Tex.: A resolution was passed giving Grand Council authority to withdraw principal funds from the Endowment Fund, for the purpose of purchasing a headquarters building, at no greater rate than funds are accumulated in a new Endowment within the Foundation. The resolution also stipulates that income from the new Foundation Endowment must be returned to the Sorority annually to support the same educational and charitable programs the Sorority Endowment Fund has supported these many years. Thus Gamma Phi Beta's $850,000 Capital Endowment Campaign was launched.

What a tribute to our leaders of the past! At the completion of the Capital Endowment Campaign, that $11.00 Endowment Fund established in 1915 will provide Gamma Phi Beta with a debt-free permanent international headquarters.

The Sorority owes much to those women who have guided the financial affairs of Gamma Phi Beta with foresight, expertise, loyalty and love.

Delta Centennial Celebration

After an exciting first year back at Boston University, Delta Chapter proudly celebrated 100 years of excellence at Boston University on April 25, 1987.

Originally established in 1887, Delta returned its charter in 1970, and was reinstalled on February 15, 1986. Now more than 60 members strong, the chapter is a dynamic link in the university's growing Greek system.

The doors of the Gamma Phi Beta house were opened wide Friday evening for a reception attended by many parents and alumnae. They came from as far as California and joined collegians in friendship and reminiscing.

The next evening 150 people, including Boston University President John R. Silber, gathered at the Lenox Hotel in Boston's Copley Place for the Centennial Banquet. Delta Chapter Alumna Advisor Jill Matuszak was mistress of ceremonies.

After dinner Dorothy Roberts Matheson (Boston) asked alumnae to share their Gamma Phi Beta experiences with the audience, resulting in much laughter. Letters from alumnae unable to attend added to the evening. A slide show brought to life scenes from more recent activities, such as the chapter's participation in Greek Games.

Marta Lombardi Brown (Boston) presented the chapter with a large donation. She also donated her mother's Gamma Phi Beta badge, which will be worn by the chapter president. Boston alumnae presented a pink carnation flower basket to the Delta members.

A Sunday brunch held at the Back Bay Hilton closed the Centennial Celebration.

A dream turned to reality, Delta Chapter's return to Boston University has been a success and the Centennial Weekend was truly a celebration of excellence.—
Stephanie S. Oswald (Boston)
