Opinion

It was a pleasure last fall during rush to experience sisterhood at Alpha Epsilon Chapter at the University of Arizona. Chapter members worked together diligently, were attentive during meetings and presented themselves to the best of their ability. Courtesy, cooperation, compassion and love for each other were in abundance.

Tina Hill, Tina Anttila and Debbie Gangl deserve special thanks for the rush diaries they wrote for the article in this issue. Amy Harries, Renay Toronto, Kim Krueger and Tina Thompson contributed their time and effort in making arrangements.

Congratulations to all the Alpha Epsilons on a successful rush!

ΓΦB Rush

Planning, preparation and practice. They were the beginning of Alpha Epsilon's success last fall at the University of Arizona. Commitment, cooperation, enthusiasm, spirit and sisterhood put the polish on a rush that ended with quota, of course.

Fall rush began early spring semester for Membership Chairman Renay Toronto and her assistant, Kim Krueger, when they appointed chairmen for each of the four parties. "Choose members who will do their jobs responsibly and well," says Renay. "The membership chairman must delegate. It is her responsibility to make sure preparations are going smoothly, not to do the actual work herself."

To further ease the workload for the chapter, sub-chairmen were appointed for each party to handle details such as skits, displays, music and decorations. Others were in charge of songs, sponsor forms, house duties, supplies and sunshine/spirit.

Renay and Kim held special song practices for new initiates, and the entire chapter participated in workshops for conversation skills, dress and grooming, and voting procedures. One workshop focused on decorations and name tags. With all members participating, everything needed for the parties was constructed, boxed and labeled. Renay notes this was a successful workshop because all needed materials were acquired beforehand by the supplies chairman.

OF COURSE!

Skits and dances required more meetings and practices for those involved. After deciding what changes to make, parts were learned and fine tuned, and costumes sewn.

The Alpha Epsilons went home for the summer knowing rush was planned, prepared and practiced. They would be back in the fall for work week to polish their skills and skits and claim quota, of course.

Ed. Note: The remainder of the Alpha Epsilon rush story will be told through photographs and the thoughts of three chapter members: Debbie Gangl (sophomore), Tina Hill (junior) and Tina Anttila (senior). Their reflections on work and rush weeks are excerpts from diaries written during that time.

Debbie Gangl It was great seeing all my friends. I missed them so much. Rush practice started. I was really worried we wouldn't be able to bounce, sing loud and look good all at the same time, but we did great! Then we reviewed sponsor forms. Had I known everyone was going to look at them, I would never have sent my picture!

Tina Hill I was filled with excitement and anticipation as I drove to the house. That night I hugged and talked with everyone. I'm so glad to be back. After dinner, we started rush practice. Everyone sang so loud and there was so much excitement in the air. I could tell this rush was going to run smoothly and be fun at the same time.

Tina Anttila Roll was taken at our meeting tonight as it will be throughout the next two weeks. It is a sure way to encourage members to be prompt. Renay and Amy Harries (president) shared the exciting ideas they acquired at the Gamma Phi Beta Convention. It was good to be back and see all of my sisters. Seems to be a good week ahead!

Tuesday

Debbie Gangl We practiced again and again and again. A little tedious but that's what makes us so awesome—being perfectionists! We reviewed sponsor forms again. I never realized how important they are.

Tina Hill Today was more serious but the excitement was still everywhere. We practiced rotation for the first round of parties and went through everything for preference night.

Tina Anttila As sunshine chairman, my job is to awaken everyone and get them enthused for the day. I used peaceful music and it was a hit. Everyone was ready to go at 8:30 am. After practice we had free time from noon to 5:45 pm. (Ed. Note: Morning and evening practices are more realistic for Tucson in August when the average temperature is 105° with high humidity.) We were able to enjoy this free time all week because we finished everything last semester. The bulk of the evening was spent reading sponsor forms and getting to know names, faces and information about women going through rush.

Wednesday

Debbie Gangl Such hard work! But Renay and Kim have everything so well organized. We practiced our skit today.

Tina Hill We practiced rotation and theme day skits. I'm starting to feel tired and run down, but I've got to keep going.

Tina Anttila We worked on conversation and were reminded to avoid asking home towns and majors, to treat each guest as if she were the most fabulous person in the world and make her feel welcome, and to remember eye contact. We later worked on songs and sponsor forms.

Thursday

Debbie Gangl Up bright and early again. We practiced again and again and again. I guess it's paying off. I'm getting so excited.

Tina Hill We all were singing energetically, especially after hearing our competition down the street. It made us all work so hard as one.

Tina Anttila We're getting closer and closer to rush. Everyone is working so well together. We practiced preference and second set parties today.

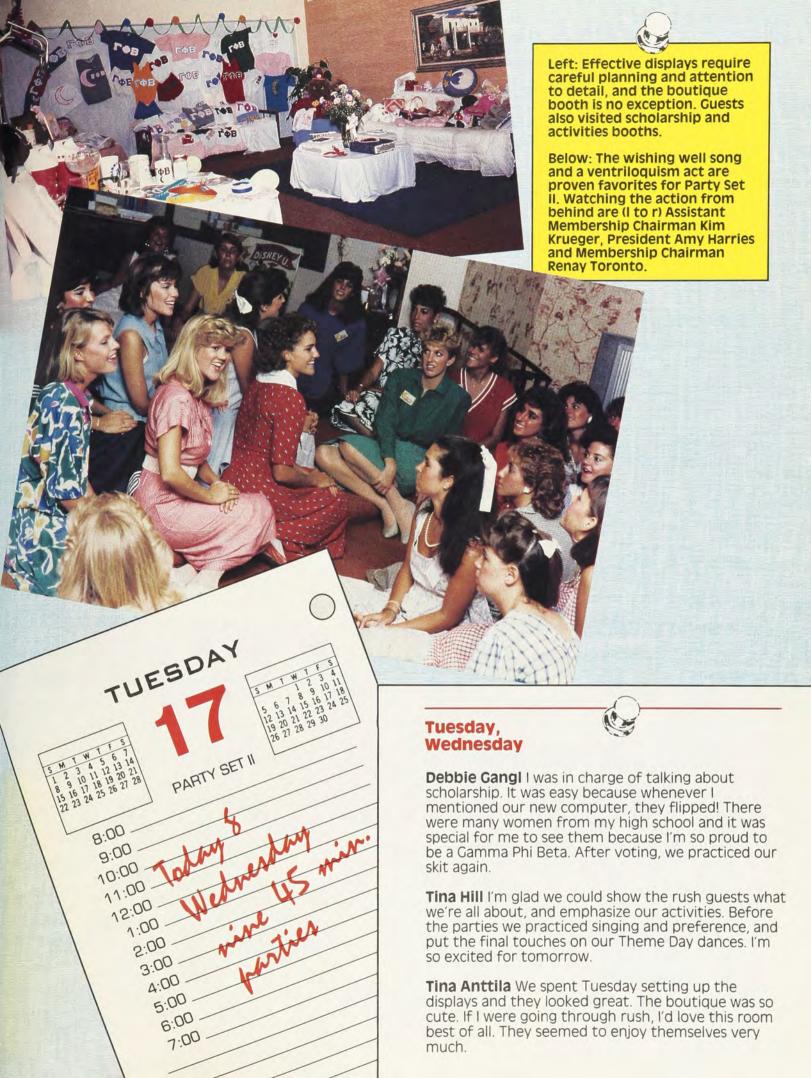

Friday

Debbie Gangl I'm getting nervous. We went over voting procedures and painted the Gamma Phi Beta letters on the street in front of our house.

Tina Hill We worked more on our Theme Day dances. We have to have them perfect. There is so much love within our chapter.

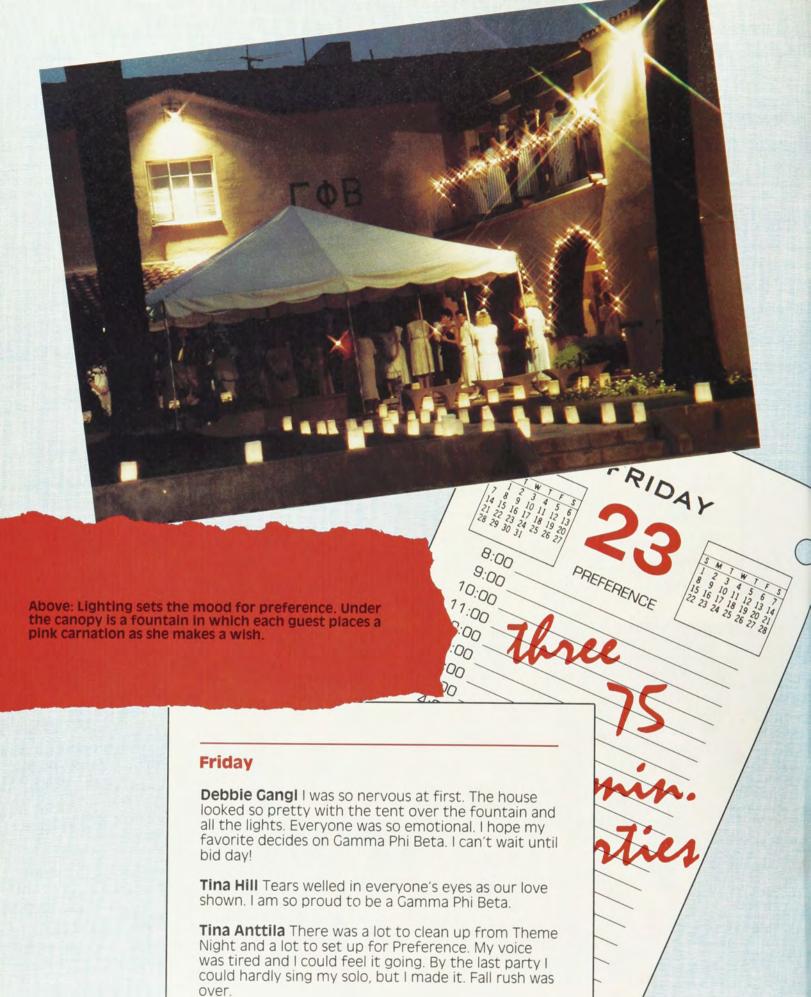

Tina Anttila Today we concentrated on voting procedures. Tomorrow afternoon we're all going to The Breakers, a water park with slides.

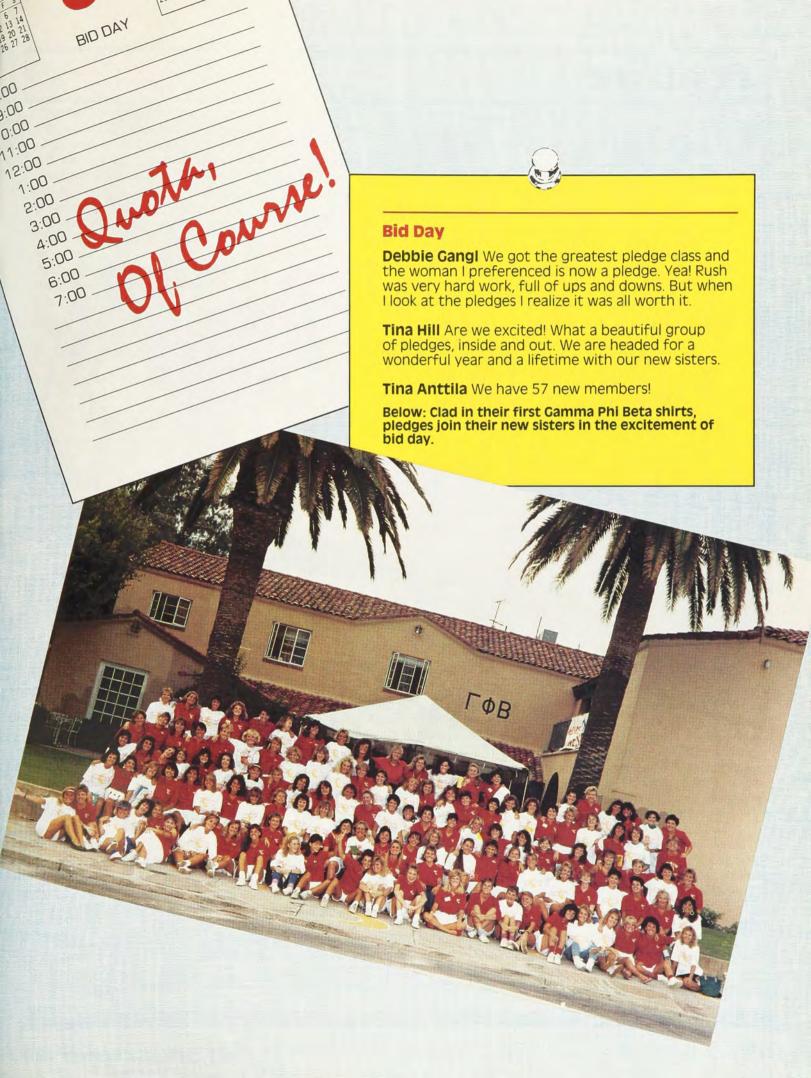

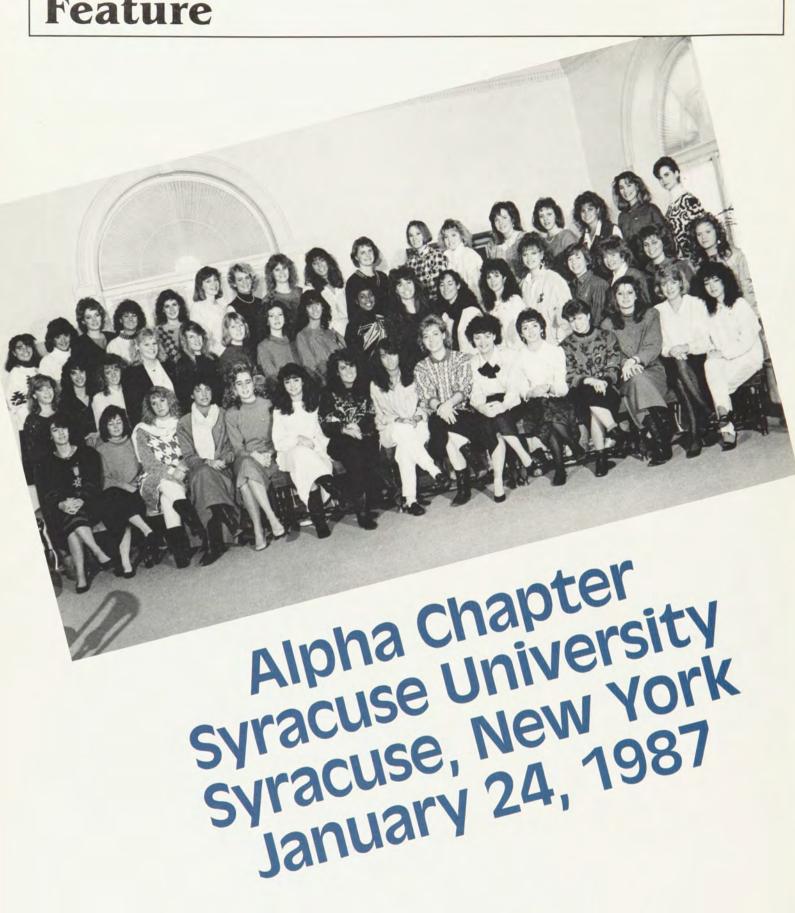

Feature

Alpha Chapter. Its new beginning was launched last fall with an opportunity and a challenge. It developed into success and sisterhood as the reorganization pledge class committed itself to Gamma Phi Beta and campus involvement.

Grand Council had placed all Alpha Chapter collegiate members on alumnae status the previous spring. The decision to reorganize was the final alternative in returning the chapter to a viable position on campus.

Reorganization rush activities were coordinated by Director of Extension Karen Wander Kline (lowa St.). Held at the Alpha Chapter house, the events culminated in pledging on October 1, 1986.

With approximately 25 percent of Syracuse University students involved in fraternities and sororities, the Gamma Phi Betas quickly became involved in social activities. Fraternity exchanges numbered 22 during the first semester, including a progressive party with Sigma Phi Epsilon, a golf party with Zeta Psi, Psi-gon party with Psi Upsilon and a barbecue with Phi Gamma Delta. They joined Delta Gamma sorority for dessert, were matched with Alpha Chi Rho for Homecoming, and participated in Sigma Chi Derby Days. The first place award was earned in the Pi Kappa Alpha sorority football tournament.

Weekly meetings enabled the pledges to increase their knowledge of Gamma Phi Beta, and PACE programs contributed to personal and chapter enrichment. Retreats in November and January enhanced sisterhood.

Inspiration Week preceded the January 24, 1987 initiation which was attended by Collegiate Vice President Jolene Lessard Stiver (N. Dakota St.) and her daughter Katie. Five McGill University collegians drove from Montreal in a blizzard to assist with initiation, and local alumnae organized the Initiation Banquet held that evening at Onondaga Country Club.

Collegiate Consultant Elizabeth

Alpha Chapter President Sandy Solberg accepts the initiation plaque from Collegiate Vice President Jolene Lessard Stiver (N. Dakota St.).

Holcomb directed the group's pledge education and activities, and Collegiate Consultants Marsha Snow, Peggy MacNaughton and Kendra Gates assisted with rush. Sixteen more members were pledged in March, bringing chapter total to 71.

Other Syracuse University sororities are Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Epsilon Phi, Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Omicron Pi, Alpha Phi, Alpha Xi Delta, Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Delta Gamma, Delta Phi Epsilon, Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Sigma Delta Tau.

New initiates are Jennifer Baum, Suzanne Bernard, Caryn Bruce, Elizabeth Churchill, Leslie Connelly, Susan Crane, Lydia del Torto, Dorée

Eichman, Stacy Eig, Lisa Eterno, Kay Feldman, Sharon Feldman, Nancy Ford, Linda Healey, Carolyn Hill, Ilene Hoffman, Mandy Huntzinger, Andrea Jeanette, Valerie King, Barbra Korn, Marcia Lasky, Hannah Lavenburg, Mindy Luxenburg, Barbara Manville, Alecia Mathog, Despina Moschonas, Cynthia Oliva, Linda Parker, Susan Raff, Suzanne Reitwiesner, Lisa Ritter, Tracy Samra, Christy Semcheski, Debra Sneideman, Sandy Solberg, Kari Stanton, Angela Strother, Meg Sudlik, Anne Taylor, Eileen Townsley, Sharon Trager, Carolyn Vinal, Stacey Wallach, Colleen Wendt, Stacey Wortman and Deborah Zarwin.

CENTRAL OFFICE PRIDE . . . CATCH IT NOW!!! Support the Capital Endowment Campaign!

Alumnae chapters across the continent are diverse in membership and activities, but each fall they unite to honor the Four Founders. Founders Day celebrations vary from brunches to luncheons to dinners to desserts, as Gamma Phi Betas gather to celebrate the legacy of sisterhood and sharing.

Alpha Chapter at Syracuse, where it all began, celebrated with Syracuse and Rochester, N.Y. alumnae at the Alpha Chapter house. Nine chapters were represented during a traditional ceremony honoring the four original Alpha sisters. The group enjoyed a delightful program of fashions from the 1870s to the present. A local collector furnished the costumes, all modeled by alumnae and collegians.

More than 70 Gamma Phi Betas from Northern Virginia, Washington, D.C. and Beta Beta Chapter at the University of Maryland attended a luncheon in Arlington, Va. They heard Evelyn Gooding Dippell (Illinois), former Grand President and current Honorary Chairman of the Capital Endowment Campaign speak in behalf of a Gamma Phi Beta owned headquarters. Sixteen chapters were represented during the traditional candle lighting. Golden Crescent pins honoring 50 years membership were presented to Jean Bartle Hemphill (Illinois), Lee Nicholson Martin (Washington), Marcia Nelson McCollum (Wash.-St. Louis) and Marcea Smith Pontlitz (lowa).

A beautiful autumn evening enveloped Omaha alumnae and their guests, the collegians of Epsilon Delta Chapter (Creighton), as they arrived at a restaurant to celebrate the Omaha chapter's 67th Founders Day. Several alumnae were recipients of honors in recognition of their service to Gamma Phi Beta. The Hall of Fame award went to Mary Nerdig Balluff (lowa St.), who has served the chapter in many offices and is the current SisterLink chairman. Georgiana Atwell Luikart (Wisconsin) and Audrey Gregory McMillan (Nebraska) were honored for 50 years of membership. As the evening ended, Epsilon Delta members serenaded and alumnae reciprocated by singing some of the songs they remembered from college days.

Fifteen members of Gamma Phi Beta from the Olympia, Wash. area met November 11 to celebrate Founders Day. The dinner meeting was planned by Margaret Barney (Texas), and toastmistress was Coordinator of State Membership Chairmen Kathy Daman Garrett (Washington). A 50-year certificate was presented to Julia Eaton Frank (Washington), and candles were lighted for seven chapters.

land University collegians. Alumnae showed Gamma Phi Beta memorabilia from their college years, which served as a great ice breaker. New friendships were made and old ones strengthened during the evening. "Performing the ritual brought everyone closer together and the realization was felt that the bonds of sisterhood do last a lifetime wherever we go," reported correspondent V. Gail McAdow Copeland (Bowling Green).

Albuquerque alumnae honored Elaine Lynch (Northwestern) with the Golden Crescent at its Founders Day. The Foundation videotape presentation was part of the festivities.

Gamma Phi Beta's

BEST

The Grand Council and Province Collegiate Directors congratulate chapters that met or exceeded minimum objectives during 1986

Awaiting the discovery of their big sisters are Delta Theta pledges at California Polytechnic State University, one of Gamma Phi Beta's BEST.

Gamma Phi Beta Minimum Objectives

- 1. Reach a GPA equal to the all-sorority average on campus.
- 2. Pledge at least 75% of Panhellenic quota each rush.
- 3. Initiate 75% of each group of pledges.
- 4. File reports with Central Office on due date.
- Be represented at Sorority Conventions and Area Leadership Conferences.
- 6. Keep all chapter financial obligations current.
- 7. Observe and follow all Gamma Phi Beta policies, university regulations and state and local laws.
- 8. Maintain ongoing and adequate programs in the areas of PACE, ritual, pledge development, philanthropy, public relations and campus involvement.
- 9. Maintain good relations with local alumnae, college Panhellenic and international Gamma Phi Beta.

The White House

It's the office of Susan Richard, who claims another Gamma Phi Beta helped launch her career in politics.

he has access to the president of the United States. Photographs of her with senators. celebrities and Ronald Reagan dot her antique-filled office; she lunches at the White House Mess; she travels the country making speeches in the President's behalf.

Her business card carries the presidential seal; the address, simply, The White House. Her official title is special assistant to the president and director of media relations. Pretty heady stuff for a young woman from Fraser, Mich.

She is Susan Engel Mathis Richard (Michigan) and she's very much at home in Washington politics.

Susan claims another Gamma Phi Beta helped her land her first political position. At the Republican National Convention in Kansas City. she was by chance seated next to Charlene McPheeters Greener (Missouri), whose husband William was then director of communications for the Gerald Ford campaign. Susan was a campaign worker in Michigan and had gone to the convention on her own, with friends, "hoping to get to work sometime with Bill Greener. And there I was, seated next to his wife, a fellow Gamma Phi." When she later had an interview with Bill, he remarked, "My wife said I had to hire you." (Charlene's version is that Susan got the job entirely on her own.)

As an assistant to the press secretary of the Ford campaign, Susan traveled extensively with President Ford and vice presidential candidate Robert Dole. She prepared radio pieces for distribution to stations nationwide and assisted with technical arrangements for broadcasters traveling with the candidates. Prior to her political involvement she had been an anchor and producer for WNCC-TV in East Lansing, Mich., a producer for WJIM-TV in Lansing, Mich. and a communications teacher. Her degree is in radio and television.

'It's amazing to see their opinions change after some face to face interaction with the president.'

After Ford's defeat, Susan spent four years working for Bill Greener at Cox Communications Washington Bureau where she was a television and radio correspondent based on Capitol Hill. Her stories were relayed to the nine radio and five television stations owned by Cox in San Francisco, Atlanta, Pittsburgh, Dayton and Charlotte. Assignments ranged from Congressional hearings and the ABSCAM trials to White House press conferences, and personality and feature stories. She wrote an average of three stories a day, in addition to producing minidocumentaries. As co-anchor for Cox stations on special occasions, she covered election night and provided political analysis on local talk shows. Her last story for Cox was covering Ronald Reagan's inaugu-

Again through the Greeners, according to Susan, she met Sarah and Jim Brady. After his appointment as Reagan's press secretary, she called Jim to congratulate him, and was asked to come in for an interview. He hired Susan as deputy director for media relations in 1981. Four years later she was promoted to her present position.

Susan supervises a staff of six and is liaison for all non-White Housebased press, providing needed information and arranging interviews. She is responsible for the White House News Service, and sets up satellite interviews with administration officials. She also assists in briefing the President prior to news conferences and interviews, and in the preparation of speeches.

Susan frequently arranges briefing luncheons with the president for editors of regional and local newspapers, some of whom may have been engaged in writing some "pretty nasty things about him. It's amazing to see their opinions change after some face to face interaction with the president. He is delightful, and completely wins them over.'

she said. "It's a privilege to have a hand in this."

Her two worst moments on the job were "thinking that my boss and friend Jim Brady was dead" after being wounded in the assassination attempt on President Reagan, and "the day the shuttle blew up." The highlights are too many to enumerate, but "being able to know as people, personalities others can only read about" has to be one of the most exciting aspects of her job. There is still some awe left in her, though. She describes being incredulous that upon meeting the Mandrell sisters (singers and personal favorites of hers) at the 25th anniversary of the Country Music

Association, they seemed as impressed and interested in her as she was in them.

Susan is not a feminist, but believes "a woman still has to be better than a man with the same assignment." She is, however, one of a new breed of women who can and are "doing it all."

February 7, 1987 she gave birth to a Gamma Phi Beta legacy, Meredith. Her deputy handled things during her eight week leave of absence (with a lot of phone calls from Susan). An au pair, arranged through the State Department, enables her to keep up her hectic schedule now that she's returned to work. "I've always been noted as an arranger.

This added dimension will test my best arranging skills." During her pregnancy she did a lot of traveling and gave a number of speeches. "I got a lot of added attention."

An enthusiastic University of Michigan alumna, Susan is the sponsor for a University of Michigan internship program on Capitol Hill, and was chairman of a large University of Michigan gathering in Washington last fall. In less hectic days she was an active member of the Northern Virginia Alumnae Chapter, but still keeps up with her many Gamma Phi Beta friends. One of them, Judy Carroll Moore (Michigan), designed her baby announcements.

Campus Sights & Sounds

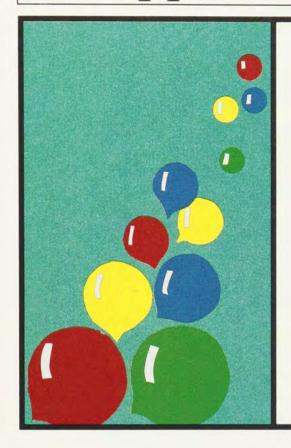

ACCORDING to a research proposal, Emory University will participate in a two-year project with Moscow State University and the University of Pennsylvania to study Soviet and American TV.

A COLLECTION of 472 socks is donated to North Carolina State University's textile library. It includes green Army socks from the '40s, bobby socks from the '50s, early panty hose from the '60s, and a Mickey Mouse sock of 1962 vintage. (Wall Street Journal) of female donkeys to guard against coyote raids on sheep and goat herds. The donkeys chase the predators. At least 100 Texas ranchers have installed the donkey guards which need no special attention and graze alone with the herds. Male donkeys can't be used as they fight too much.

AN ANIMAL BREEDER at Texas A&M is studying the effectiveness
